Local VFW commanders earn top ranking

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

orldwide, only 115 VFW post commanders are selected for the honor of All-American. Antioch and Lake Villa each have one of these top-ranking commanders.

Both Bill Oerly, commander of Antioch VFW Sequoit Post 4551, and Ray Henry, commander of Lake Villa Post 4308, were officially recognized at the 105th annual VFW National Convention in Cincinnati this past August. They received their red, white and blue hats at the ceremony that visually set them apart from other post commanders.

In the ceremony, which they described as similar to a graduation ceremony. Henry and Oerly received their hats one right after another.

"There aren't any post numbers between 4308 and 4551 so we were right together in line," Oerly said, "We were invited (as honorees), but anyone can come to the convention. It was very touching when we walked through the line and post members were there cheering us on."

Ironically, Henry is an Antioch resident and Oerly a resident of Lake Villa.

Henry said, "I already had friends at the Lake Villa post, and this is where I was invited to join."

Oerly said members are not bound to Join within their own hometowns. "It really just depends on what post asks you first," he said. "We're always happy to welcome new members, and being involved is the important thing."

According to Oerly, only the top one percent of post commanders worldwide, spanning three continents, achieve this honor. Commanders earn top honors statewide for public service, and worldwide for increasing the size of their

With the exception of the fact that the Antioch Piggly Wiggly will be closed for the full day of Sunday, Sept. 19, the changeover since its purchase should be seamless for customers.

The Antioch and Zion stores were sold to David Karczewski, a former manager of the store in Antioch. Fresh Brands, Piggly Wiggly's parent company, made the decision to sell these corporately operated stores in favor of stores that are independently owned and operated.

Gary Suokko, senior director of retail operations for Fresh Brands, said, "Our strategic initiative is with the wholesale end of the business. Only 12 of the 91 Piggly Wiggly stores were corporately operated, and we decided we should move toward having all of our stores independently owned.

Suokko said the Antioch store has always been active in the community and several of its members have been supporters of Antioch's many philanthropic organizations.

"It always had the feel of an independently owned store, and that will be enhanced now that it is one," he said. "It will make it easier (for Karczewski) to respond to the needs of the community."

Some people are going to retire, others are going to choose different positions and a lot will apply for positions with the store under its new ownership...'

Gary Suokko

Suokko said customers will see no drastic changes, as Fresh Brands will still stock the store with the familiar items and brands.

Some of the employees, like current store manager Adrian Brusky, have opted not to reapply for their positions with Karczewski.

Brusky said, "I decided to take another opportunity with the company (Fresh Brands). I took a promotion and will be working in buying and purchasing. This is an area I always wanted to pursue, and this was the perfect opportunity for me to do

Suokko said all employees have been invited to apply for positions with Karczewski, and they will officially cease to be Fresh Brands' employees as of 10 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 18 when the store closes.

He said, "Some people are going to retire, others are going to choose different positions and a lot will apply for positions with the store under its new ownership. Of course, there will be some employees that are new hires."

Suokko sald unused vacation would be paid with some prorating for the next year, but no actual severance is being offered.

According to Suokko, the store will maintain its current hours of 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Karczewski could not be reached for comment.

Village's records ready for audit

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedla.com

There is nothing new about reports that the village's books are out of balance by about $3 million, but what is new is that the accounting firm Manning, Silverman and Company has the 2003 accounting records ready for audit.

Trisha Steele, the village's financial director, said, "The previous audit has $3 million more debits than the system. The system (accounting system the village is the process of changing over) is junk, and that doesn't surprise me. That system is not programmed for accounting anymore."

Steele said because the system "is junk" that there were "80 little line items" that weren't closed correctly and were largely responsible for the difficulties in reconciling the books. She said "cash" was only one of those 80 items, and that the issue is primarily with fund balance.

She said the good news is that books do reconcile for 2003 and are ready for audit.

"In village finances, the money has to be kept separate, segregated. If you take money from one fund, you are supposed to do it like a

Parks, school programs coincide

With the start of school comes a new full offering of programs through the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department, some of which are held at area schools.

Promising Picassos art class begins a new session in September for 4 to 6-year-olds, and will have offerings at both Antioch Elementary and Hillcrest Elementary schools.

Bulls Basketball Skills Camp will be held at Antioch Elementary beginning on Sept. 23. The 90-minute class will be held over four weeks with two divisions: rookies, kindergarten through third grade; and veterans, fourth through eighth grade.

The rookie session is designed to teach beginning basketball skills while the veteran session will sharpen and fine tune players' skills in preparation for the upcoming basketball season.

Ongoing classes, for both children and adults, in the martial arts discipline of Shotokan Karate are available. Those seeking specific information about conditioning, kata classes and tournament training should contact Sensei Anna Connors directly at 847-395-5425.

Fall is a great time of year for horseback riding. Lessons are offered through Windance Acres in Lake Villa. The facility has both Indoor and outdoor arenas.

A wide variety of dance classes are offered for all ages through two studios: Dance Academy of Antloch and American Stars of Dance. Call the parks office for a full listing.

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Department is located at 806 Holbek, off of Orchard and across from the Antioch Rescue Squad and Antioch Area Senior Center. For more information, call 847-395-2160.

Y Library promotes 'flash your card'

As a special promotion to coincide with National Library Card Sign Up Month in September, the Antioch Public Library District is encouraging residents to flash their library cards around town. It enlisted the help of local businesses by teaming up with them to provide special discounts and freebies to cardholders.

"Flash your card at the local businesses and receive your free item or discount," said Mary Ann Bruno, public relations coordinator. "Flash your card at the library on Sept. 18 to receive a special gift."

Bruno said lists of participating businesses, and what those businesses are offering, are available at the library or on its web site www.antiochdistrictlibrary.org.

"More businesses keep joining every day, so only a partial list is available now," she said. Currently, the following businesses have agreed to participate: Katie's Country Cottage, 1-Hour Cleaners, Big Al's Doghouse II, Golden 395-0874.

Panda, Big Apple Bagel, Floral Acres, Ladies Workout Express, McDonald's, Quiznos, U Jeans American Bar and Grill, Suzanne's Framing, Innovative Ideas, Fantastic Sam's, Johnson Jeweler, Hannah's, Antioch Cellular, Remembering When Scrapbooking, Rosatis Pizza, Elite Embroidery, Main Street Custard, Chocolate Obsession, Video Empire, Best Pets, Big Bites, Dodge of Antioch, Raymond Chevrolet, Friends of the Antioch Library and Escape Nail Spa.

Only one offer per establishment is allowed per card. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

"Don't have a card, lost yours, just want a new one, any reason is a good reason to come in and sign up for a library card in September," Bruno said. She added that replacement cards for those that have been lost are free throughout September.

For more information, call Bruno at 847-

Chain O' Lakes residents tell strategies vs. flood

By STEVE PETERSON speterson@lakelandmedia.com

Legislators and representatives from Illinois Department of Natural Resources and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers listened as more than 100 residents of the Fox River valley gave their views on how future high water events should be handled.

"It was about the same as in 2000. We were fortunate where our house is, but it was pretty soggy," said resident Dave Roberts of McHenry IDNR and US EPA officials described how the Obermaier gates worked at the McHenry Lock and Dam and the Algonquin dam in an attempt to slow flooding in May and June. The Chain O' Lakes was at some stage of regulation from mid-May to the end of June. Ironically, this came after a winter's drought.

Fox Waterway Agency in Fox Lake hosted the gathering, and State Sen. Pam Althoff (R-McHenry) served as moderator. State Rep. JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch) and State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) were also on Peterson suggested that further work with Wisconsin officials should be done, especially around the Burlington area, for more of an advance notice.

"It came so fast," Nancy Roberts said of the flooding.

William Lemons, who lives off Channel Lake, said this was the third time in the last five years his property has been flooded. "I love it; I don't want to change it, but something has do be done," Lemons said. "I had 300 sandbags at my house. Mark Ring and the Antioch Township Highway Department were great."

Mike Morman, who lives off Columbia Bay, suggested one solution would be to have winter draw-down be extended. The agencies said they would investigate this and other proposed solutions.

Another resident said that a reservoir system may do well.

Arlan Juhl, division manager of IDNR's office of water resources, said the aim of having the floodgates is to not make the matters worse downstream.

Unlike other bodies of water, there is a very tight standard between normal flow and restricted status on the Fox River. The gates may be opened when water levels reach 3,000 cubic feet per second.

The audience was shown data that, at all collecting stations, having the flood control gates did reduce the amount of water intake. Rains of May 22-23 pushed the total amount of water in the river to the point where the flood control gates were used.

Residents asked if there could be additional zones of enforcement of flood regulations. They were told this could be tough to enforce.

Dredging was another issue. Some said it is only a quick fix. The FWA and the IDNR have a site, but local opposition in the Island Lake area ended that discussion.

"We may need your help in convincing your neighbors," said FWA Chairman Howard "Bud" Scott.

Scott said another factor is the amount of "big box stores and rooftops" that are where the natural storage of water used to be.

Gary Clarke, IDNR Office of Water Resources director, explained how the Obermaier gates work at Stratton Lock and Dam as opposed to the old fivesluce gates. Data is collected at New Munster, Wis., Nippersink Creek at Spring Grove, Squaw Creek and dam sites. Most, if not all, had record rain totals for the May and June period. Data is collected in the morning, then analyzed to see if the floodgates should be used or not, said IDNR projects manager Rita Lee. "We have done a lot of studies over the last eight to 10 years to come up with the manual.

"If you trigger the gates open too soon, it will cause flooding downstream and you don't want that to happen," Juhl said.

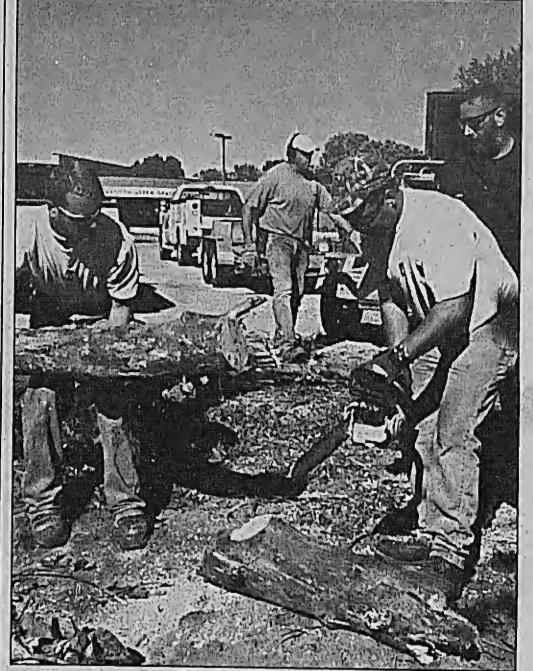

Data showed that what took place in May and June was about a 44 or 25year occurrence.

Several residents said more should be done to stop the sediment coming from Wisconsin.

"Why did it take two and one-half weeks to go down?" asked resident Rose Puckett of Fox Lake.

George Divis, chairman of the FWA citizens advisory committee, said the lakes are very important for the area economy.

Scott concluded the meeting by thanking those in attendance for keeping remarks positive. "I am a fourth generation resident of the Chain O' Lakes and I could not be more proud," he said. Officials vowed that there would be future public meetings. He said state and local officials will do all in their power to better cope with flooding.

Township salaries on the rise

Smouse seeks reelection as supervisor

By JULIE MURPHY imurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Antioch Township officials met to discuss increasing salaries for the assessor, highway commissioner, clerk, supervisor and trustees for the next four years, beginning in

Supervisor Steve Smouse said, "In the past four years, with the exception of the assessor, no one has received more than a one percent increase. She (Heather Kufalk-Marotta) had received more than that because the pay scale had been behind."

Smouse said it is necessary to set new salaries at least 180 days prior to the April election. "This is done so that you (elected officials) are never setting your own salary.

By percentage, the trustees per diem for attending meetings and the clerk's salary increased the most at about 43 percent. The change will bring the clerk's salary, for full-time work, up from $14K to $20K annually. Trustees' per diem will rise from $175 to $250 per meeting.

"The clerk's salary had been lowered over 8 years ago, before I was elected," Smouse said. "We really needed to get that back up. It had been about $20,000 before that time."

The increase for the assessor is at 11:5 percent, from $55K to $63K.

Smouse noted that the assessor is on a different schedule and that increase will not be seen until Jan. 1, 2006, while the other changes will go into effect May 1, 2005, or after the first official meeting following the April election.

The highway commissioner will see nearly an eight percent increase from $69,622 to $75,000. Pay for supervisor will increase 5 percent from almost $50,000 to $52,488.

Smouse said with the exception of the per diem paid to trustees, township officials would see a straight three percent increase in the three years following the initial.

Additionally, Smouse said that while he has no plans for a "splashy announcement," he does intend to run for a third term as township supervisor.

Storm alters golf course

By JULIE MURPHY jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Good news is that no one was hurt and that the Antioch Golf Club's new facility was left undamaged after last week's storms. Bad news is that the course lost four full, older oak trees and parts of another dozen.

"It's definitely a loss for us," said manager Vince Juarez. "This definitely changes the complexion of the golf course."

Juarez said the club will like have to replace some or all of the trees. He explained that in addition to adding to the course's beauty, the trees help the golfers spot the holes.

"We were lucky," he said. "There was no damage to the building, there were no injuries and we only had to close the golf course for most of Friday. It could have been worse."

Juarez said it took crews through Monday to fully complete the clean up, but that enough of the debris had been removed by late Friday to allow golfers back out onto the

He said, "We had to make sure that everybody would be safe."

Juarez said that most residents with property bordering the golf course lost power, but that the club gets its electricity from different lines and was not inconvenienced by loss of service.

"When I got the call at about 5 a.m. on Friday and came straight here, I couldn't even use the entrances," he said. "Both were blocked and I had to drive on the grass. We got busy with chain saws, and got a lot of the big stuff taken care of on Friday so we could reopen."

Juarez said the club has been back on full schedule and is looking forward to uninterrupted service to guests over the upcoming holiday weekend.

Tord is that the Antioch Waves made quite a splash at the Northern Illinois Conference Championships held in DeKalb this past summer.

Ten-year-old Dominique Bessette, competing in the 9-10 year old age grouping, not only took gold medals in her events but broke the conference record in all three: 100 meter individual medley, 50 meter breast stroke and 50 meter backstroke,

The team consists of 75 swimmers from the Antioch area in the age range of 5-17 years old. Other team members representing the waves at the conference championships are as follows: Dylan McCurry, Daniel Frank, Samantha Frank, Toni Tognarelli, Cassle Crippen, Silas Grosch, Zach Wilder, Yasmine Bessette, George Bessette, Emma Howard, Sarah Steffen, Taylor Pechauer, Alex Pechauer, Elizabeth O'Hara, Carter Bell, Michael Mulloy and Kelly McIlhany.

Antioch Waves compete against teams from Rockford, McHenry, Crystal Lake, Woodstock, Algonquin, Elgin, Dundee, Geneva and the concert of the season. As with all FridayFest performances, 215 West will take the stage at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 3. The band covers songs from Van Morrison, Frank Sinatra, Dave Matthews, Joe Cocker, The Beatles, Lynyrd Skynyrd, the Rolling Stones and Jimmy Buffett among others. Such a wide variety of music offers something for everyone.

FridayFest is held at the Brook Memorial Bandshell behind the stores that line the east side of Main Street.

Local philanthropic groups, like the Antioch Moose Lodge, sell food and beverages, so no carry-ins are allowed.

SCHOOL DIGEST

High school hosts back-to-school dance

One month and one day after the official start of school, Antioch Community High School will host its back-to-school dance.

The dance will be held in the south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School from 7-10 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 24.

Cathy's Creative Kids Club begins 5th season

Cathy's Creative Kids Club will begin its fifth season of operation in September. Classes will be offered after school within the Antioch school districts.

This season brings classes to seven different schools in the area. Cathy Leafblad said, "I feel fortunate and blessed to be able to share my love of the theatre with children in the third through eighth grade,"

Those interested in signing up for an after school program or an evening class can call Leafblad at 847-623-1154.

Craft show supports ACHS activities

The Peddler's Alley Craft Fair Committee of Antioch Community High School has begun making preparations for its 12th annual event.

Every year more than 50 local crafters participate. Those interested in being among that group for this year should call 847-395-1421, ext. 9440.

Show date is Oct. 9 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m., perfect for those interested in early holiday shopping. In addition to crafts, food is served and a bake sale and raffle are held in conjunction.

Proceeds support various student activities.

Homecoming falls mid-October

This year, homecoming for Community High School District 117 will be Oct. 16.

A pep rally will be held on the Friday just prior at 7 p.m. on the football field.

On Saturday, events begin with a parade along Main Street at 10 a.m. The football game, against Libertyville, begins at 1 p.m. with the Homecoming dance following at 7 p.m.

District 117 announces upcoming meetings

Community High School District 117 has determined the board of education meeting dates for the 2004-05 school year.

Upcoming regular meetings will be held on the first and third Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. and will alternate locations between the libraries of Antioch Community High School (ACHS) and Lakes Community High School

Meeting dates for 2004 are as follows: Sept. 2 at ACHS, Sept. 16 at LCHS, Oct. 7 at ACHS, Oct. 21 at LCHS, Nov. 4 at ACHS and Nov 18 at LCHS. There is only one meeting scheduled for December and it will be held on Dec. 9 at 7 p.m. in the ACHS library.

District 41 announces free-lunch policy

Lake Villa C.C. School District 41 announced its policy for free lunches for those students unable to pay the full price for meals. To receive this special meal service, students must meet the federal guidelines and the meals must meet the requirements established by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (exceptions are made for those with a disability requiring a special meal prescribed by a physician).

The following criteria will be used to determine eligibility for free lunches. As an example, meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $16,237, or a weekly income of $392. Free meals are avallable to those with a household size of four and an annual income of $24,505, or a weekly income of $472.

Applications are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. Additional forms are available in the principal's office.

All applicable questions should be answered. An incomplete application cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps or TANF (temporary assistance for needy families) for the children need only list the name of the children and the food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application.

All other households must provide the following information: names of all household members; the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word "none" if the adult does not have a Social Security number; the amount of income each household member received last month and where it came from (wages, child support, etc.); the signature of an adult household member.

The school or other officials may verify this information at any time during the school year.

The school must be notified in the event of a change in household Income of $50 per month or $600 per year, or if the household size decreases. Additionally, families must notify the school if they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their children.

This program may be applied for at any time within the school year as a situation or situations change making a household eligible. In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these meals regardless of household income. Households have the right to a fair hearing if dissatisfied with the ruling.

Herniated Disc?

Lindenhurst, IL -According to a recently released Herniated Disc pain relief report, most people suffering from a herniated disc have no idea how to eliminate their pain. Some use heat, others ice. Some people try surgery. From sleeping on the floor, to pillows underneath the legs, herniated disc pain relief techniques vary. But thanks to a free report, local herniated disc sufferers finally know exactly what to do.

Lake Villa PD nails fraudulent carpenter

By BRENDA BALIN bbalin@lakelandmedia.com

A local home improvement contractor may have put the nail in his own coffin. Ed A. Wakelyn, 39, of 25033 W. Clariden Ave., Antioch is now wanted on a $100,000 warrant for his arrest on charges of home repair fraud, a Class 4 felony, carrying a possible jail sentence.

Lake Villa Police were contacted by a Winddance Court resident who complained that Wakelyn had taken a deposit of $10,080, or 60 percent of the contracted amount for construction of a deck.

The homeowner sald the contractor agreed to have the work completed by Aug. 1, although the specific date was not in the written contract.

The check was cashed immediately, but as the weeks went by, no work was done, and the contractor proved hard to contact.

According to Lake Villa Detective Richard Tippett, the contractor finally responded by mail. His letter said he understood he would not be doing the job, and that a refund would be forthcoming.

On July 29, the homeowner responded, saying no money or calls had been returned. At that point, the homeowner declared the contract cancelled, and on Aug. 12, contacted police.

Police initiated contact with Wakelyn, who then said he had ordered parts for the project from Merit Building Supply.

Merit employees told police Wakelyn had only come in on July 3 asking for a quote on materials.

Wakelyn informed the homeowner that he would "pro-rate" the refund, based on work already done, including obtaining a plat of the property. The homeowner told police that she had provided the plat to the contractor.

When Tippett contacted Wakelyn on his cell phone, the contractor was evasive.

"He told me he'd get back to me," Tippett said. "Then he faxed a copy of the quote, the plat, the contract and a drawing of a deck. All he did was call for an estimate, and make a drawing, but we don't even know when the drawing was done. It could have been done the day he faxed it to me."

Although Wakelyn has no convictions, he has a history of similar charges.

Tippett said this was probably the largest home improvement fraud case in the village, so far. He noted many people may not report frauds of relatively small amounts,

He cautioned homeowners to be careful about how they conduct business with home improvement contractors. He offered some guidelines of what should be in a properly executed contract:

A complete breakdown of the costs of parts and materials

A breakdown of exactly what work is to be performed

Start and completion dates for the work Terms of consequences for unsatisfactory, unfinished or late work

Terms of refunds and cancellation

"People need to check with the Better, Business Bureau or local builders to find out about the contractor," Tippett sald. "Always get more than one estimate.

Tippett also advised that, when in doubt about how business is conducted, people should call the police department.

TIF round goes to petitioner

Fox Lake voters may have a chance to vote on $4.95 million bond issue, loan for improvements for a hotel and water park area.

Lake County Circuit Court Judge Terrance Brady ruled that the Fox Lake Electoral Board ruled in error that the petition for a public referendum was flawed.

"This is a great victory for the average citizens of Fox Lake. I am very pleased with how it came out. The village citizens and now the courts have spoken," said Pete Jakstas Sr., the petition's proponent.

Brady sided with the petitioners in his ruling that they had met substantial compliance with the regulations on petition format.

Objectors are expected to immediately file an appeal at Illinois Appellate Court.

"We will abide by what the court decides, as a village board, that is all we can do," said Mayor Nancy Koske.

Developer Don Peeples has proposed the project, off Route 12 and Sayton Road, designed to boost tourism through a Tax Increment Finance District.

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander said a meeting between the parties and the Lake County State's Attorney's office followed the ruling. Ballots must be printed on Sept. 3, due to the GOP nominating President George Bush, and have to be sent to military members. "We would not want to disenfranchise the military voters, and there are a lot of them, because of the Fox Lake case," Helander said.

Helander said while the order by Brady ordered a stay of printing of the ballots, there is case law to the opposite.

"The village has three attorneys fighting it against our one," said Pete Jakstas Sr., leader of the referendum effort. Petition backers arguing against the electoral board's ruling cite that a tape recording of the executive session minutes did not work properly. Resident Matt Kovar filed the original objection to the petitions.

AUDIT

loan and repay that fund with interest," she said. "The debit variance has been caused, in part, by failure to keep the funds separate."

While other reports attribute Mayor Taso Maravelas as having said-a forensic audit would be necessary to rectify the matter, Steele said the village is not pursuing that avenue. She said, "That is a very complicated type of accounting. It's like an autopsy of accounting. I have never, personally, been involved in one, and there are very few instances where they are used."

Several village officials are upset that they were not contacted in other reports.

Trustee Barbara Porch said, "Maybe this was new to the '(Chicago) Tribune,' but it wasn't news to Antioch. Nonetheless, I've had a lot of phone calls about the $3 million and I cannot reiterate strongly enough that we are not missing $3 million in cash. We are not pointing the finger at anybody. There are numerous things that could have caused the discrepancy from auditing error, computer glitches, not depreciating items that should have been."

Porch said she has asked Steele to pull the last 14 years worth of audits to see if these were just little problems that had been allowed to compound over the years. She said Manning, Silverman was given a starting number to work with that was out of balance by $3 mil-

Though Trustee Bob Caulfield reportedly. sald he was "shocked" when two village employees left at the beginning of the year and that their leaving "threw us into a little bit of chaos," his demeanor was different at meetings when their resignations were accepted. During discussions when trustees Dorothy Larson and Mary Turner requested that exit interviews be conducted to determine why village employees were leaving, Caulfield sald, in short, that the village shouldn't worry about it and employees often leave for better oppor-

To implications of malfeasance given the juxtaposition of these former employees names to the assertion the Chicago Branch of the FBI is investigating Antioch's financial situation, Turner said, "People perceive that there is something there. To insinuate that there was any wrong doing by any former employees or former administration without absolute documented proof embarrasses the entire community."

Turner sald she advised on several occasions, including during open meetings, that former employees be called and asked for help to resolve the situation.

They (any of the people working to straighten the financial issue) could have called previous employees for help," she said. "I have done it and I have gotten answers. Of course there are problems with the procedures that need to be addressed, but it's morally and legally wrong to make these accusations and it needs to be stopped."

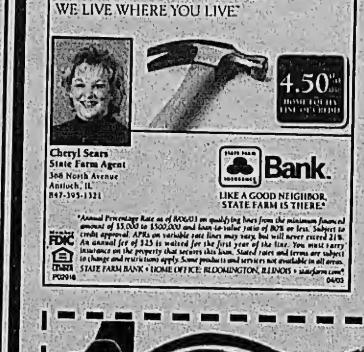

Trustee Larry Hanson said that he believes employees can only be as good as the equipment and resources they have to work with and that he feels previous employees have been hampered. "It's our fault," he said. "The board should have seen that changes were made a long time ago, so that the employees could do what they needed to do.

Previous reports attribute the information that the FBI is investigating to U.S. Attorney Patrick Fitzgerald. When his office was contacted for confirmation, spokesman Randall Samborn said, "I don't know where they sourced that letter or information, but it came from someplace other than the U.S. Attorney's office. We do not say, one way or the other, whether we are or are not investigating anything,"

To unfounded allegations, former village employee Claude LeMere came forward and said he, too, has been on the receiving end of false accusations against him by Maravelas.

"These allegations are just smear tactics," he said. "I've worked with the people who have left the village (of Antioch) and there's not one person who would do something to hurt the village. They did the best they could with what they had."

The "Antioch News" tried to reach both Caulfield and Maravelas for comment several times to no avail. During the last attempt to get the mayor's comments about the situation, he said, "I really don't have time to talk. I'm a busy guy,"

Both Henry and Oerly said there is no rivalry between the two posts, but noted the posts often work together and host joint functions.

Both posts participate in the Operation Christmas Cheer program at the VA Hospital in North Chicago. Both posts march in each other's village parades.

"Antioch and Lake Villa work very well together," Henry said. "We worked together on the Ronald Reagan memorial, and often get together for color guards."

Both Henry and Oerly said they take pride in being able to serve the community and fellow service men and women.

Henry said, "The important thing is that we help our communities and we help the comrades who can't help themselves. We are here to help and that's the bottom line."

Oerly, who is also extensively involved with area scouting programs, said he enjoys events and projects that focus on children.

"It was a great thrill to me when W.C. Petty (elementary school in Antioch) came to us last year and invited us to their special Veterans Day service," he said. "We had enough flags left (from the Fourth of July parade) to give each kid a flag, and to see them all sitting there and waving them. It was really great, really special."

Veterans interested in joining the VFW can contact either Oerly or Henry to confirm qualification for membership. Oerly can be reached at Antioch Sequoit Post 4551, 75 North Ave., Antioch, IL 60002, 847-395-5393. Henry can be reached at Lake Villa Post 4308, 130 E. ## Fall arts, crafts fair meet holiday needs

Antioch's Fall Arts and Crafts Faire continues to add new vendors and will have more artists and crafters with a larger variety of wares than ever before."I recommend getting the holiday shopping list together before coming to the Arts and Crafts Faire this year," said Barbara Porch, executive director of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry that sponsors the event. "Not only do we have all the booths, but there is all of downtown Antioch so it's a good chance to find the perfect gift for those who enjoy making gift shopping a challenge."

The fair is scheduled for Sept. 11-12 from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Sunday, this fair The Orchard Street extension is east of Route 83 back by the Brooks Memorial Wetland Sanctuary.

"We will have artists from all over the country," said Porch. "We've gotten more strict over time to ensure that everything is really handmade so consumers will get the best products available. It amazes me the amount of detail work that they can do."

There will be various painters, ceramics, candles, jewelry, chimes, pottery, needle point, soaps, door mats, hair accessories and a variety of wood products like shelving, containers and carvings. New to the lineup are uniquely decorated piggy banks.

Porch said a nice variety of food that includes baked goods, kettle corn and confectionery would be available for fair goers, but noted that there are plenty of good restaurants all within walking distance for those looking for something other than what is available on site.

Rain or shine, vendors will be there and ready to sell their wares.

"This is a nice event for our downtown, too," said Porch. "It brings a lot of people through. Even the exhibitors take some

Garden club hosts regular meetings through June

Antioch Garden Club meets the first Monday of the month, September through June at 6:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church at 848 Main St., Antioch.

Visitors and new members are welcome. For more information call 847-395-1202.

Orchard Street extension closes for fair

The Orchard Street extension will be closed for the annual Arts and Crafts Faire from Friday, Sept. 10 through Sunday, Sept. 12.

Additionally, Skidmore Drive will be closed during this time between the Orchard Street extension to the last driveway out of the parking lot behind BJ's Fashion Store for Men. Business people, tenants and deliveries will use Park Avenue to enter the access road from Skidmore Drive.

Questions should be directed to the Chamber of Commerce and Industry 847-395-2233.

Antioch AARP seeks members

Antioch AARP Chapter 387 will have its first meeting of the 2004-05 season on Sept. 14 at the Antioch Senior Center. A brown-bag lunch, brought from home, will commence at 11:45 a.m. and the formal meeting at 1 p.m.

Sandy Harper said the business portion of the meeting would include a discussion with Carolyn Goothman who will provide insight into lobbying at the state and federal level for senior needs. Immediately following, there will be social time with cards and bingo.

The meeting is open to all who are 50 years old or more.

Harper said that membership in the National AARP organization is optional. For more information, call her at 847-245-3519.

Open Arms helps area residents, seeks volunteers

Open Arms Mission Food Pantry is a nonprofit community organization providing assistance with food and other daily necessities for residents in need of Antioch and Lake Villa Townships.

Hours of operation are every Tuesday and Thursday from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The pantry is located behind St. Peter Church in Antioch at 557 Lake St.

Volunteers are always needed and appreciated. Donations can be sent to P.O. Box 79, Antioch, IL 60002. Drop-off centers are located at the Village Hall buildings in Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

For further information call 847-395-0309. Special Need Item of the Month: School Supplies.

Library focuses on humor, dolls

Guest speakers have become a regular part of the Antioch Public Library's adult program with September's focusing on humor and dolls.

Popular speaker, author and psychologist Dr. William Goodman will address how to "Put More Humor in Your Life" on Thursday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m.

Dr. Goodman is a former professor and was a talk show host," said Jane Connors-Geddes, adult programs coordinator. "I think it will be a very interesting evening. He's a humorist, but there is a psychological slant."

Reservations are required to attend this event.

On Monday, Sept. 20 at 7 p.m., Antioch local Brenda Herron will demonstrate "Making of a Porcelain Doll."

Some of Herron's dolls can be viewed in the library's display case.

Connors-Geddes said, "I like to invite local people to make presentations or speak in areas of their interest. It's nice to promote. community involvement."

As with the Goodman presentation, reservations are required to attend this demonstration.

For more information, or to make reservations, call the Antioch Public Library at 847-395-0874.

Fantasy Football season is here again! For many Lakeland readers, the very thought sends their hearts racing. But for others, the question may be, "What is fantasy Football?"

One of the most popular games across the country, fantasy Football comes in many different forms, with each allowing football fans to draft their "own" team every Sunday afternoon and/or Monday/Thursday night.

Lakeland Newspapers began their league 4 years ago.
This year the following rules apply: readers must pick two quarterbacks, two running backs and two wide receivers. Lakeland Newspapers Fantasy Football Monthly counts only touchdowns.

backs, two running backs and two wide receivers. Lakeland Newspapers Fantasy Football Monthly counts only touchdowns.

Your team is good for one month and one month only.

Entries must be post marked by the last day of the previous month in order to enter the next month's contest. For example, September 30 is the last day to enter the October contest. You must re-enter each month, after the last game of the month is played the total amount of touchdowns scored by your six players is counted and whichever reader has the most total touchdowns wins. In the event of a tie, Lakeland will count the touchdowns of the candidate's "write-in" players. One entry per person. The October, November and December winners will go in a raffle for the Whirlyball Prize. Each runner-up will get $25.

Lakeland Newspapers will publish a fantasy Lootball column each week with tips and player news. Don't forget that schedule plays a big role in which players choose, Just because someone may be the league's best player, does not necessarily mean that they will be the best player that month. # Antioch rumbles past Niles West

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

Prior to the season, Antioch coach Del Pechauer knew his team faced some solid offensive teams this season. So his plan was to run the ball as often as possible to keep the ball away from the opposition.

And the Sequoits worked that strategy to perfection in defeating Niles West in a shootout 54-34 Friday night. It was Antioch's first-ever win over the Wolves.

Going up against star running back Rashard Mendenhall, the Sequoits took ESPN's Dan Patrick's famous catch phrase to heart—"You can't stop him, you can only hope to contain him."

"He's scary to play against," Pechauer said. "You can't even game plan against a player like that. You just hope to stay close to him, because once he breaks through the line, he's gone."

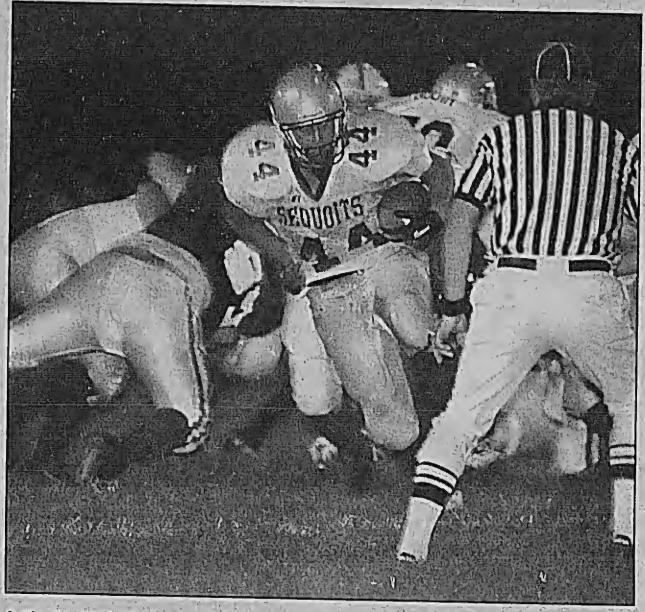

And Mendenhall was as good as advertised, gaining 180 yards. He also broke touchdown runs of 45 and 76 yards and also had a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

But for every yard Mendenhall gained, Antioch had an answer on the ground, and then some.

Nick Nathan led the way with 210 yards on 22 carries and scored three times. Mark Neuman (6 carries, 97 yards), Nate Hughes (13 carries, 82 yards) and Mike Miller (6 carries, 61 yards) also had solid games as Antioch racked up over 400 yards on the ground.

"Nick does a nice job between the tackles and the other three did a nice job going out-side," Pechauer said. "We were able to keep them guessing on who had the ball. The backs did a good job with their fakes and hiding the ball.

Another key stat was turnovers as Antioch had none while forcing three on defense. Two of the turnovers, interceptions by Anthony Baruffi and Randel Williams, led to Sequoit touchdowns.

"There wasn't much defense in the game, but our defense was able to make some plays when it needed to," Pechauer said.

With a win under their belts the Sequoits will prepare for an emotional night as they play their first home game under the lights since 1962.

"We're hoping to pack the crowd in," Pechauer said.

Antioch will host Elgin Larkin on Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m.

Fall baseball league planned

The College of Lake County is again organizing a fall high school baseball league for those players not participating in a fall high school sport. The league has been approved by the IHSA. All high school players (seniors, juniors and sophomores) that sign up will be given an equal amount of playing time. Tentatively all teams will play eight games, followed by a playoff game for the top two teams. The number of players is limited to 90. The cost of the league is $60. For more information call the CLC athletic department at 847-543-2046.

Sequoits double their pleasure in win

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

After hitting a high water mark as a program with a number of state qualifiers in 2002, Antioch's tennis team has been in a rebuilding mode the last couple of years.

"Graduation has really hit us hard, and a few of our players moved," Antioch coach Bryan Plinske said.

Despite the fact that his team is relatively inexperienced, Plinske has liked what he's seen so far from his team.

"The really great thing about this team is they're willing to learn," Plinske said. "They're giving it everything they have on a daily basis. They're willing to take their lessons and apply them in matches.'

That's exactly what happened in a 3-2 win over Grant on Tuesday.

Antioch's first win came from the No. 1 doubles tandem of Lindsay Cutter and Natalie Stewart, which won 6-1, 6-2.

"They're coming along nicely and they're much improved," Plinske said. "They're also starting to develop a killer instinct."

The No. 3 doubles team of Maggie Sabatino and Brooke Savage also came out on top 6-1, 6-2.

"Maggie's serves are really strong and she has no fear at the net," Plinske said. "And Brooke is just good at every shot, she has no real weakness."

With the meet tied 2-2, Antioch's No. 2 doubles duo of Jamie Fjellstedt and Amanda Peters prevailed 7-5, 6-3.

"They came through in the clutch for us," Plinske said. "Amanda was real aggressive at the net and Jamie's serves were coming in at a real good pace."

Although his singles players, No. 1 Christina Pedersen and No. 2 Andrea Pinc, both lost, 6-4, 6-1 and 6-4, 7-5, respectively, Plinske has been pleased with the progress they've been making.

"Our singles were up in the air at the start of the season," Plinske said. "But they're worked really hard in practice and they're put what they've learned into play. It's nice to see that their practice has paid off. Each match they get under their belts will teach them more and more."

His tam's willingness to work gives Plinske confidence in their chances this sea-

"Everyole has skills and they're willing to work of the at they need to do to improve," Plass said "We're having fun and there's a fot of positive energy on this team. We'll struggle from time to time, but the wins will come.

Antioch will go for its next win in a home match against Waukegan on Sept. 3.

Grayslake prevails over Lake Zurich in shootout

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

This couldn't have been the final score Grayslake coach Vito Andriola envisioned when he prepared for last week's game between his Rams and FVC-rival Lake Zurich.

The last time these two teams hooked up, the final score was 14-3, with Grayslake coming out on top in last year's season opener. That's 17 combined points.

This time the Rams and Bears combined for nearly twice that—in the first quarter.

"Our games won't be like last year," Andriola said. "I don't like that." By the time it was all over, the Rams would prevail 32-31 in a shootout, coming back from 14 points down in the fourth quarter to complete the biggest comeback in school history. And while Andriola didn't like the way it happened, he was certainly pleased with the outcome.

"We're going to do what we have to do to win," Andriola said. "We'll win by any score necessary."

A defensive coach by trade, Andriola was certainly peeved by his team's defensive performance. Lake Zurich amassed runs of 75, 77, 32 and 67 yards and out-gained the Rams 359-

"We just didn't play well defensively," Andriola said. "That's what happens when you have a young team."

Grayslake's defense will get even younger in the next few weeks as Brian Campbell will miss the next five games with a separated shoulder.

The defense did, however, come up with several big plays, forcing four turnovers, including a fumble, which was recovered in the end zone by Eric Rohde for a touchdown.

We won the turnover battle 4-0, and that's Grayslake football," Andriola said.

Unlike last year's team, though, this team can put points on the board in numbers. Brian Centella caught a pair of touchdown passes, Hanson caught one and Steve Delger (16 carries, 79 yards) and Brett Miller (11 carries, 68 yards) gave the team some valuable rushing

Perhaps most impressive were the three TD passes from quarterback Evan Jones. Just a sophomore, Jones also had 145 yards passing, nearly doubling Grayslake's season high in 2003.

"I'm pleased with the way we played offensively," Andriola said, "I have a QB that can throw and can handle the pres-both lost, 6-4, 6-1 and 6-4, 7-5, respectively, Plinske has been pleased with the progress they've been making.

"Our singles were up in the air at the start of the season," Plinske said. "But they're worked really hard in practice and they're put what they've learned into play. It's nice to see that their practice has paid off. Each match they get under their belts will teach them more and more."

His team's willingness to work gives Plinske confidence in their chances this sea-

"Everyone has skills and they're willing to work on what they need to do to improve," Plinske said "We're having fun and there's a lot of positive energy on this team. We'll struggle from time to time, but the wins will come."

Antioch will go for its next win in a home match against Waukegan on Sept. 3.

The number of players is limited to 90. The cost of the league is $60. For more information call the CLC athletic department at 847-543-

Grayslake prevails over Lake Zurich in shootout

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

This couldn't have been the final score Grayslake coach Vito Andriola envisioned when he prepared for last week's game between his Rams and FVC-rival Lake Zurich.

The last time these two teams hooked up, the final score was 14-3, with Grayslake coming out on top in last year's season opener. That's 17 combined points.

"Our games won't be like last year," Andriola said. "I don't like that."

This time the Rams and Bears combined for nearly twice that—in the first quarter.

By the time it was all over, the Rams would prevail 32-31 in a shootout, coming back from 14 points down in the fourth quarter to complete the biggest comeback in school history. And while Andriola didn't like the way it happened, he was certainly pleased with the out-

"We're going to do what we have to do to win," Andriola said. "We'll win by any score necessary.

A defensive coach by trade, Andriola was certainly peeved by his team's defensive performance, Lake Zurich amassed runs of 75, 77, 32 and 67 yards and out-gained the Rams 359-266.

"We just didn't play well defensively," Andriola said. "That's what happens when you have a young team."

Grayslake's defense will get even younger in the next few weeks as Brian Campbell will miss the next five games with a separated shoulder.

The defense did, however, come up with several big plays, forcing four turnovers, including a fumble, which was recovered in the end zone by Eric Rohde for a touchdown.

"We won the turnover battle 4-0, and that's Grayslake football," Andriola said.

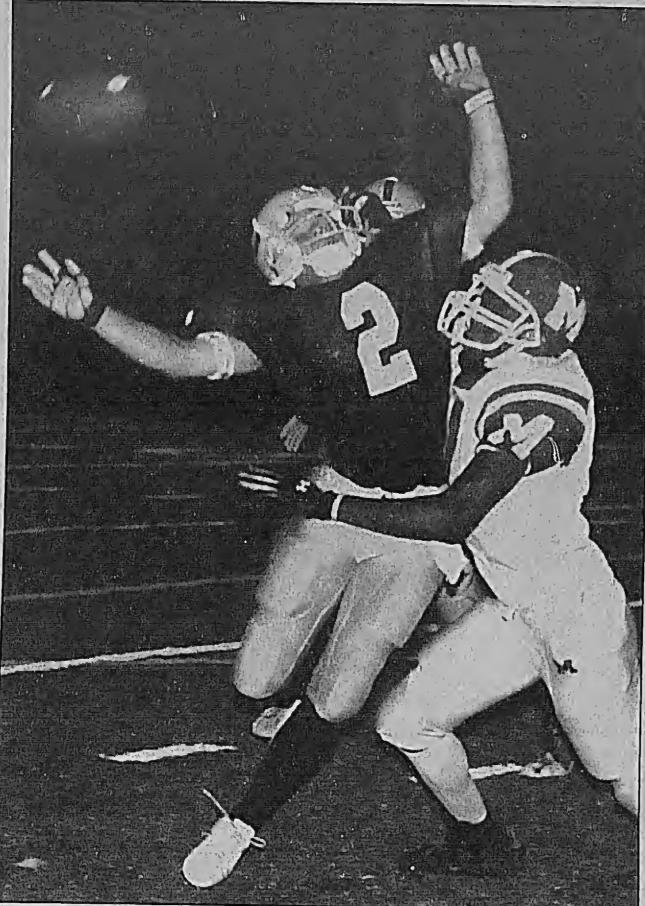

Unlike last year's team, though, this team can put points on the board in numbers. Brian Centella caught a pair of touchdown passes, Hanson caught one and Steve Delger (16 carries, 79 yards) and Brett Miller (11 carries, 68 yards) gave the team some valuable rushing yards.

Perhaps most impressive were the three TD passes from quarterback Evan Jones. Just a sophomore, Jones also had 145 yards passing, nearly doubling Grayslake's season high in 2003.

"I'm pleased with the way we played offensively," Andriola said. "I have a QB that can throw and can handle the pres-

Corsairs rally past Marist, win 17th straight

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

For the briefest of moments Friday night, Carmel seemed vulnerable.

The game had been close throughout and Marist was using a punishing ground game to beat up a tired Corsair defense. And with 11:22 left in the game, the seemingly unthinkable happened.

The RedHawks took a 21-20 lead on a 9yard scamper from quarterback Scott Slubowski, putting Carmel's 25-game home winning streak at risk. The air seemed to be sucked out of the crowd, which numbered in the thousands with the debut of Carmel's new field, as Marist whooped it up on the sidelines.

Although his team trailed in the fourth quarter for the first time in almost a year, Bitto wasn't worried.

"I liked that we had some adversity," Bitto said. "I thought we would handle it well."

After a brief meeting on Carmel's sideline, Bitto found out just 13 seconds later just how well his team would handle its first share of adversity.

"I told the guys we needed a big return," Carmel coach Andy Bitto said.

And that's exactly what they got.

Sophomore fullback Jimmy Potempa fielded the ensuing kickoff at the 11-yard line, found a hole and went 89 yards practically untouched to put the Corsairs back in front, a position they would not relinquish as they went on to win 41-21.

"Coach (Bitto) told me to break it and I did," Potempa said. "I didn't get that many yards on my first return; I kind of went sideways and got tackled."

Potempa also did his share of running straight ahead in the backfield, gaining nearly 110 yards on 25 carries, and scoring a pair of touchdowns, from nine and 10 yards out.

With Potempa providing several bruising runs up the middle, Bitto also had the option of working the ball outside with speedy back Darren Davis.

"We have a nice combination in the backfield," Bitto said. "Whenever the defense started crashing inside we knew we had to get to the perimeter, so we got the ball to Darren in the toss sweep."

Davis used his blazing speed to rack up runs of 12, 12, 11, 31, 22, 12 and 18 on his way to 115 yards on just nine carries. He also scored a pair of touchdowns.

"The offensive line came up big in getting enough time to get me the ball on the sweep," Davis said.

The third member of Carmel's backfield, Steve Hironimus, struggled carrying the ball but did come up big on special teams. His 73yard punt return in the opening quarter gave the Corsairs a 7-0 lead.

"Whenever you score on special teams it breaks the spirit of the opposition," Bitto said. "That's something we've always done. Our special teams put us in a position to win three or four games every year."

Also coming up big in several situations was Carmel's defense. Despite giving up over 100 yards to Marist's Donnie Skelly, the Corsairs did force a pair of backbreaking turnovers as Kevin Devitt, who was forced out early in the game with cramps, came up with a pair of interceptions.

The win runs Carmel's home winning streak to 26 in a row and 17 straight over-

"It was a nice win," Davis said. "A lot of people didn't know what we could do. It got a lot of doubt off my chest and off the Carmel's schedule won't let up as the Corsairs travel to Naperville on Sept. 10 to take on Benet, which gave Carmel its toughest test last season. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Lady Lancers fall in season opener

By ROB BACKUS rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

Losing the first match of the season is beginning to become a routine for the College of Lake County's women's soccer team.

A 7-3 loss to the College of DuPage on Saturday gave CLC its fifth straight season opening loss. However, the previous four seasons, the Lady Lancers managed to win the Skyway Conference title.

And head coach Dave Beck is convinced his team can do it again this season.

"I fully expect the team to get back to where it's been the last five seasons," Beck said. "This is one of the most coachable teams I've had. They're eager to learn."

The team also received a lesson against DuPage, which was ranked No. 3 in the nation in NJCAA Div. III last year.

"We usually schedule strong teams early," Beck said. "You don't learn anything in a 10-0 shutout win."

DuPage stormed out early to a 3-0 lead, and carried it into the half.

"This game was pretty physical, and our freshman have to get used to that," Beck said. "The college game is an adjustment and we didn't adjust as well as we could have."

CLC did, however, manage a comeback with two straight goals from last year's leading scorer Kristy DeClark. Michelle Mroczek assisted the first goal and Ashley Eddy tallied the assist on the second.

"I was pleased that we were able to come back," Beck said. "I thought we were going to get all the way back in it."

However, DuPage came back and scored three goals in the next 10 minutes to put the game out of reach.

"We just ran out of gas," Beck said.
"To DuPage's credit, they were able to put the hammer down and put the game away."

Mroczek added a late goal on a penalty kick to give CLC its third and final score.

Despite the loss, Beck wasn't disappointed.

"We didn't hang our heads and we learned some things," Beck said. "We didn't hang our heads and were workmen-like in practice."

The team will have to get its practice time in as it prepares to face to more quality opponents this weekend.

CLC will take on Iowa Central Community College on Sept. 4 and Rochester Community College on Sept. 5 before returning home to begin the Skyway Conference portion of its schedule.

Convention reiterates party differences

Tacko protesters and senseless violence in the streets of New York outside the Republican National Convention highlights the growing political division in this country.

With groups like "Commies For Kerry" it's almost like there is a sort of controlled insanity permeating society.

And with emotions running at an all-time high, with the most important election in the history of civilization soon upon us, it's time to reiterate the differences between Democrats and Republicans.

Now I may be wrong, and I often am, but Democrats believe that the killing of innocent babies through abortion is an acceptable means of birth control—while Republicans believe that all human life is sacred.

And I may be wrong, and I often am, but Democrats believe that gays and lesbians are entitled to all sorts of special rights—while Republicans believe that marriage is between a man and a woman.

And I may be

Jeff Zachary

FROM A TO ZACHARY

wrong, but
Democrats believe that the movie Fahrenheit
9/11 is a fair and balanced documentary about President Bush and his administration—while Republicans believe that Moore is a big fat

And I may be wrong, but Democrats are against the Ten Commandments and prayer in school—while Republicans believe we are one nation under God.

And I may be wrong, and I often am, but by advocating the handing out of condoms in the schools, and wanting to get rid of the Bush tax cuts, it seems Democrats believe that lower moral standards and higher taxes will solve all the problems under the sun—while Republicans believe that higher moral standards and lower taxes are a much better solution.

And I may be wrong, but Democrats prefer the (Women's) Libby Collins talk show on WKRS 1220-AM Radio in Waukegan—while Republicans dial in the "Al Salvi" talk show on the same station.

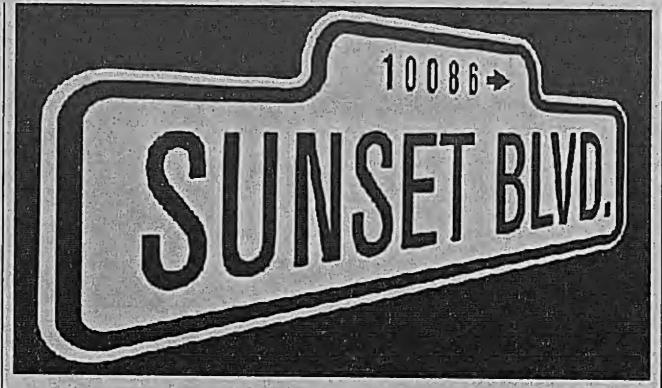

And I may be wrong, but Democrats believe that a terrorist attack like 9/11 will never happen again—while Republicans believe that the only reason there hasn't been another attack is because Bush has taken the war on terrorism overseas to Afghanistan and Iraq, and has the terrorists on the run.

And I may be wrong, and I often am, but the Democrats symbol of a donkey is very appropriate for members of that party—while the Republicans symbol of an elephant is also appropriate for them.

Now please don't get me wrong, I'm not a Republican (I voted for George McGovern and Jimmy Carter) and I'm not saying that Democrats are jackasses—but I am saying that like elephants, Republicans never forget. And they will never forget the attack of 9/11.

And that is something the terrorists and the voters should remember.

Marriott Theater presents Sunset Boulevard

Terry James, executive producer, and Rick Boynton, artistic director, of the award-winning Marriott Theatre in Lincolnshire, are proud to present the premiere regional production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's Sunset Boulevard. Performances for the seven-time Tony award-winning musical begin Sept. 9 and run through Nov. 7.

Broadway and its collaborators have long considered The Marriott Theatre a prime venue for launching Broadway shows into the regional market. The Theatre has released an impressive list of premiere productions that include Cats, Mlss Saigon, A Chorus Line, Baby and Grand Hotel. By special arrangement with Andrew Lloyd Webber's Really Useful Group, and the Rodgers and Hammerstein Library, the Theatre will add Sunset Boulevard to this outstanding list.

Sunset Boulevard, based on the 1950s classic movie starring Glorla Swanson and William Holden, is the portrait of Norma Desmond, a forgotten silent film star with grandiose delusions of a comeback to the silver screen. Her chance encounter with Joe Gillis, a struggling writer, leads them down a destructive path of romance, deceit and ultimate tragedy. This epic musical is a dramatically chilling exploration of humanity set against the glamour of old Hollywood through the sweeping and passionate melodies of Andrew Lloyd Webber.

The extraordinary cast assembled for Sunset Boulevard includes Paula Scrofano as Norma Desmond, Matt Farnsworth as Joe Gillis, John Reeger as Max von Mayerling, and Heidi Kettenring as Betty Schaefer.

Scrofano, Chicago's leading lady, has graced the Marriott Theatre stage for more than 20 years. She has starred in several leading roles including the title role in Victor/Victoria, Carolotta in Phantom, Meg in Damn Yankees, Arlene In Baby and Miss Mona in The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas. Farnsworth makes his Marriott Theatre debut with Sunset Boulevard. Hls Broadway credits include Thoroughly Modern Millie, Cats, Tommy, and the Canadian production of Sunset Boulevard.

Mr. Farnsworth's regional credits include productions at Yale Repertory, Missouri Repertory, and The Goodspeed Theatre. Reeger has an impressive resume of Marriott Theatre credits, such as George in La Cage Aux Folles, Don Quixote in Man of La Mancha and Billy Flynn in Chicago. His Chicagoland credits include productions at The Goodman Theatre, Steppenwolf Theatre and Chicago Shakespeare Theater. Kettenring, Chicago's newest budding diva, returns to The Marriott Theatre stage where she was last seen as Babe Williams in The Pajama Game and Princess Ruth in Princess and The Pea. Other Marriott credits include Fanny Brice in Funny Glrl (Jeff nomination), and Carrie Pipperidge In Carousel. Her Chicago area credits include: Chicago Shakespeare Theater, Court Theatre, Northlight Theatre, and Drury Lane, Oakbrook Theatre.

Director Joe Leonardo and Musical Director Kevin Stites will head the artistic team for Sunset Boulevard. Leonardo and Stites are reuniting after their critically acclaimed collaboration on Miss Saigon in 2001.

Performances are scheduled for Wednesdays at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m.; Thursdays at 8 p.m.; Fridays at 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 5 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.; and Sundays at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Ticket prices are $40 (excluding taxes and handling fees).

Students and senior citizens receive $5 off the full ticket price on Wednesday and Sunday matinee and evening performances.

Receive a complimentary dinner with the purchase of a full-price theatre ticket for Wednesday and Thursday evening performances. The Wednesday and Thursday Night complimentary dinner has a limited availability and is not applicable with any other discount offer. (Gratuity not included).

Reservations with a major credit card can be made by calling the Marriott Theatre box office at 847-634-0200 or online at www.marriotttheatre.com.

Dinner Theatre Packages available for all performances. Free parking and wheel-chair accessible.

attending. In one day, our family

walked through aviation history, from exhibits describing the beginning of flight, to the first civilian space launch of Space Ship One.

For example, after touring the CH-47 Chinock transport helicopter, our gulde, a 30year army veteran who'd just returned from Iraq, thanked us for sending hlm cookies overseas. I couldn't help thinking that our servicemen and women deserve a heck of a lot more than cookies, especially after they get home.

Then we walked from a realistic WWII encampment into the future—just in time to watch a military jet, the "Harrier," launch and land vertically like a ship from "Star Wars."

Plus, I learned how women pilots contributed to U.S. war efforts.

I met Scotty Gough, a sharp 83 year old lady who served as a World War II W.A.S.P. (Women Airforce Service Pilot) near a souvenir stand only offering girls "Barbie Flight Attendant." Scotty told me how she joined this group of female pilots who flew everything except combat missions. Since she first nad to meet the age and training requirements, Scotty said she "waited it out" practicing parachute jumping after convincing a private pilot to take her up, "He was more interested in me not getting my chute stuck on the tail of his airplane than whether I lived or died." Nevertheless, Scotty described her W.A.S. P. experience as a "wonderful opportunity to serve.

Finally, as for modern day Amelia
Earharts, champion pilot Patty Wagstaff's amazing aerial stunts certainly got my attention (though I was so tired I snoozed through the previous mock bombing runs).

I couldn't leave without snapping a photo of Patty and my daughter. My little red head needed a souvenir of a real-life "Barbie" breaking through stereotypes, especially since they've both already broken the sound barrier.

Taking tuna to the next level: cookbook opens new possibilities

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Canned tuna scales new heights in a new book, "Take a Tin of Tuna" (Chronicle, 2004) by Joie Warner, who transforms it from the ordinary to the extraordinary.

Warner's 65 recipes incorporate the versatile ingredient in appetizers, salads, soups, sandwiches and main course dishes. The author offers, for example, a tuna and sweet corn chowder, new-potato omelet with tuna and asparagus and plta pockets stuffed with curried tuna salad.

Her Savory Tuna-Stuffed Red Peppers incorporates Mediterranean flavors, such as, anchovies, olives, capers, tuna and tomatoes, all in a remarkably tasty dish.

McMillan Enghilada Casserole Supreme

> By Firefighter Larry D. McMillan City of Decatur Station #1 Decatur, Illinois

- 5 lbs chuck steak 1 1/4 cups flour
- 1/2 tsp. granulated garlic
- 1 tsp. black pepper
- 2 Tbsp chill powder
- 1 Thsp ground cumin
- 3 Thsp chicken soup base 7 cups water
- 1 can sliced black olives 30 small corn tortillas torn into 1 inch squares
- 1 lb colby longhorn cheese, grated
- 1 lb Monterey Jack cheese, grated
- 3 medium onions, chopped

2 green peppers, chopped

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut chuck steak into bite size pieces and brown. Remove from skillet and place in large bowl. Retain drippings. Add flour, garlic, pepper, chili powder, cumin, soup base and water to drippings and bring to a boil to make gravy. Pour gravy over meat. Line bottom of large baking pan with 1/3 of meat and gravy mixture. Cover meat and gravy mixture with 1/2 of torn tortillas. Cover tortillas with 1/2 of remaining meat and gravy mixture. Layer 1/2 of the onion, green pepper, and cheeses. Layer remaining tortillas. Layer remaining meat and gravy mixture. Layer remaining onion, green pepper, and cheeses. Top with black olives. Bake covered for 1-1/2 hours.

Micro-Minute

Here we are again! And still focusing on dips for the armchair quarterback. The second dip is...

Game-Day Dip

About 1-1/2 cups

"Looking for a cheesy, gooey dip that's great for game day? Serve this and you'll have a bunch of new fans cheering for you!" Here it is...

- 1/2 pound pasteurized prepared cheese product (like Velveeta), cut into 1/2-inch
- 1/2 cup thick-and-chunky salsa 1/4 cup beer
- 1) In a microwave-safe medium-sized bowl. combine all the ingredients; mix well.
- 2) Microwave at 70 percent power for 2 minutes; stir then microwave for 1 to 2 more minutes, or until smooth and the cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

TIPS: Top with sliced jalapeño peppers and serve with tortilla chips. Remember, this can be as spicy or mild as you like, depending on the salsa you use.

Savory Tuna-Stuffed Red Peppers

- 3 extra-large red bell peppers (about 8 oz. each), halved lengthwise, seeded, stems
- 1 can (about 6 oz.) solid light tuna packed In olive oil, well drained and broken into large chunks
- 6 to 8 anchovy fillets, chopped
- 2 ripe, medium tomatoes, seeded and coarsely chopped
- 18 Kalamata olives, pitted and very coarsely chopped

• Preheat the oven to 450 degrees F. • Lightly oil the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch glass baking dish or similar dish just large enough to hold the peppers snugly. • Drop the bell peppers into a large pot of bolling water and simmer for 3 minutes. • Using tongs, transfer them to a colander, upside down, to drain. • Arrange the peppers, cut side up, in the prepared baking dish. • Gently combine the tuna, anchovies, tomatoes, olives, capers, garlic, bread crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper to taste in a medium bowl. . Spoon the tuna mixture into the peppers and drizzle them with the olive oll. . Bake, uncovered, for 20 minutes, or until the stuffing is hot and slightly crusty on top and the peppers are lightly charred in several places. . Serve hot or at room temperature sprinkled with parsley. Pass a bottle of fruity olive oil for each person to drizzle over the peppers to taste.

Lake Villa to host Civil War encampment

That eerie feeling on the grounds of the Lehmann Mansion will once again return as the crackling of the fire and shadows dance among the trees. A regiment of the Confederate Army will spend the night preparing for daybreak, which will bring an onslaught of civilization into their confines.

Visitors will be greeted by rugged soldiers and refined ladies and gentlemen who are eager to share their stories of life in the bygone era. Medical facilities, food supplies, fashion and artillery will be just of a few of the demonstrations available.

Food vendors, carriage rides, artists' wares and tours of the Lehmann Mansion will be available for minimal fee(s).

The Fine Arts Council will have strolling minstrels to entertain with period music and teach dances and games of a past time. Other activities will be provided in a children's area.

Excitement will heighten when the cavalry charges, with horses rumbling and sabers flashing, leading the regiment into a battle of firing muskets and cannons.

When the smoke clears, the delivery of the Gettysburg Address by Abe Lincoln himself will end the day's incredible journey back in time.

Location: Lehmann Mansion (1 mile north of 132 on 83 at Longwood Centre)

Admission: $5 adults, $3 Children 12 and under. Time: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Parking is free. For more information, call the Lake Villa Village Hall at 847-356-6100.

Some call it cowboy music; some call it folk music; some call it the Best in Western music. Call it what you like, the bottom line is this: Riders In The Sky deliver pure and priceless entertainment. The moment America's Favorite Cowboys step up to the microphone the magic begins, allowing listeners to leave behind the frenzied pace of today's living and lose themselves in the romantic, comical, whimsical world of the singing cowboy.

Since 1977, Riders In The Sky have faithfully tended a musical tradition kindled by singing cowboy legends such as Gene Autry and the Sons Of The Pioneers. Throughout their collaborative career, they have branded the genre with their own mark, crafted from a well-balanced mix of both classic and original western songs, smooth harmony, hot licks and slapstick comedy. Over two decades, more than 4,000 shows, 200 national television appearances, 200 public radio shows, 2.3 million miles on the road, three television series and dozens of albums down the trail, a group that began with a commitment to carry on an American musical tradition has itself become a national treasure.

The Riders' enthralling act centers around the expert musicianship of Ranger Doug (The Idol of American Youth), Woody Paul (King of the Cowboy Fiddlers), Too Slim (Insert title of your choice here), and Joey (The Cowpolka King). The four combine refreshing acoustical music and a wide musical repertoire with outrageous comedy. delivering entertainment guaranteed to delight listeners, regardless of age or musical preference, Club near Beach Park.

Hike Lake County and improve your health

Just 30 minutes a day of moderate it exercise can contribute significantly to your well-being: improving cardiovascular health, lowering blood pressure, helping control weight and reducing risk of major illnesses and disease. Walking is one of the easiest ways to add activity to your routine and our Lake County Forest Preserves provide the perfect setting. Join the Forest Preserves 6th annual Hike Lake County event and hike seven designated trails by Nov. 30 to receive a free commemorative shield for your walking stick.

This year's Hike Lake County event is sponsored by Lake Forest Hospital. For more information about health benefits and issues related to walking, call the Lake Forest Hospital Sports Medicine Department at 847-535-7550, or visit them online at www.LakeForestHospital.com them in their official Hike Lake County Travel Log, available online at www.LCFPD.org or at various forest preserve locations. Upon completion, participants will receive a commemorative shield (free for Lake County residents; $10 for out-of-county residents).

Participants must hike seven of 12

Designated tralls are marked with special signs indicating the trailhead and route to follow. Mileage varies from less than a mile to nearly four miles, and is indicated for each trail in the Travel Log.

All of the trails are clean, safe and scenic. Most are also wheelchair accessible. Enhance your hiking experience with a varnished Ozark hardwood hiking stick ($10) or Golden Guide field guide ($7), available for purchase at selected Forest Preserve facilities.

Add camaraderie to your fitness regimen - hike with a group. Lake County Forest Preserves' Monday Movers, Forest Fitness and Stroller Serendipity Strolls groups are covering several of the Hike Lake County trails this fall. See our website at www.LCFPD.org for a schedule or call 847-968-3321. Pick up a Hike Lake County Travel Log at the following Lake County Forest Preserve facilities: Brae Loch Golf Club

Greenbelt (Libertyville), Cultural Center (North Chicago), Independence Grove Visitors Center (Libertyville), Lake County Discovery Museum (Wauconda), Operations Office (Wauconda) or Ryerson Woods (Deerfield). Or visit the Lake County Forest Preserve website for program information and downloadable forms and trail maps: www.LCFPD.org.

National artists work donated to permanent exhibit

Peter V. Bianchil, a Kenosha native and artist, was an illustrator for National Geographic for 14 years. Elizabeth Bianchi recently donated 37 original paintings by her late husband, Peter V. Bianchi, to The Natural History and Art Museum of Kenosha's permanent fine arts collection. These works, which were commissioned as illustrations for National Geographic feature articles, will be displayed along with related cultural artifacts from museum collections.

Bianchi's artwork visually documents many of the greatest moments in world history. Based on research, scientific evidence and much study, Bianchi created stunningly detailed visual images of events that occurred even before the written word. The Museum exhibit will run October 1, 2004 through March 31, 2005. In collaboration with this exhibit, the University of Wisconsin-Parkside will host an exhibition of Bianchi's archival materials including sketches, Journals and notebooks which demonstrate the arduous task of scientific illustration.

Bianchi's personal notes, letters and photographs bring a human dimension to this exhibit and the interactive, multidisciplinary process of scientific illustration. The exhibit in the Communication Arts Gallery at Parkside will run October 1-November 30, 2004. The information hotline is 262-653-4434.

CLC ARTS

and dance productions. Auditions for all group performances will be open to the college's students as well as community members.

Given the popularity of the One Ringrelated books and movies, there should be plenty of interest in the children's theatre production of "The Hobbit," directed by CLC associate professor of theater Thomas B. Mitchell. The production begins a four-night stand on Sept. 30.

The theatre season moves immediately from the fantastical "Hobbit" to productions that relate humorously, and at times painfully, to modern society. Mitchell said he specifically chose topical plays like "Born Yesterday," a comedic look at political scandal and deceit, to mirror conditions that theatregoers might see in everyday American life. He believes that the season's highlight could be "The Laramie Project," which chronicles the social conditions surrounding the hate-crime murder of gay college student Matthew Shepard in Wyoming.

"I want them to walk away really thinking about how inhuman we can be to each other, and how someone can be murdered for being different," Mitchell said. "I think people really need to look at how we treat each other as human beings."

Youth will be served with several theatre performances geared toward school-age patrons. The Daylight Series presents "A Woman's Work," a narrative look at the life of a student teacher, on Sept. 22, and will also offer Halloween and holiday-themed shows.

Michael Flack is starting his first year as music instructor and band director for CLC, and he's bringing friends. His jazz plano recital will kick off the college's music season Oct. 8, and longtime pal and trumpet player Larry McWilliams will perform as guest soloist with the school's Monday Night Jazz Ensemble at Jazz Night Friday on Oct. 29.

The 28th Annual Guest Artist Concert will showcase Tom "Bones" Malone, a fixture on the Late Show with David Letterman. The multi-instrumentalist played in John Belushi and Dan Akroyd's original Blues Brothers band, and will write special arrangements to play with the Monday Night jazz and wind ensembles.

Having played with modern masters such as Henry Mancini and James Brown, Malone and McWilliams will electrify listeners and fellow players alike, Flack claimed.

"It challenges everybody to be at the best, and it's great for the audience to hear an artist they might not normally hear."

The wind ensemble will join the CLC Singers and Choir of Lake County for a concert on Dec. 5, and the Gospel Choir will finish the semester with their own holiday show on Dec. 13. The College of Lake County Choirs will present separate programs on Oct. 31 and April 24.

Contemporary dance will be on display at the Prairie Spirits Dance Troupe's Winter Dance Concert on Nov. 19 and 20. Modern and jazz works from local and national choreographers will be performed. Less predictable will be the 7th Annual Fear No Art event on May 6, 7 and 8, in which CLC students create and stage their personal visions of dance, music, poetry and the visual arts.

Tickets for the college's 2004-05 season are available through the CLC Box Office. Reduced ticket prices are available for CLC students and, for various performances, seniors and children 12 and under.

he Toronto International Film Festival (TIFF) is the most accessible major film festival in the world for people "not in the business," just movie fans who can't let a weekend go by without seeing one or two features. It's a chance to see and hear actors, directors, and distributors who are also in attendance. Held each September, this year's 29th anniversary Fest is September 9-18. Over 200 films will be shown, most of them world premiers, on 21 screens in the Festival Village and downtown

The official launching point for the Oscar season, Toronto is where the award buzz starts in earnest. Hype sometimes becomes reality, at other times it just fizzles. For example, last year "The Human Stain," with Nicole Kidman and Anthony Hopkins, was the hot ticket at the festival. But after it received a lukewarm reception by the critics, (even though the film played for quite a while in Chicago) it was months before it crossed Lake-Cook Road (and hit the northern suburbs). By the time Academy Award nominations were made, it was no longer being discussed.

The majority of the venues for the festival are within walking distance of each other so getting around is easy. A few of the major motion pictures premiering this year are "Beyond the Sea," "The Motorcycle Diaries," "A Good Woman," "Downfall," and "Return to Sender." "Beyond the Sea" has Kevin Spacey as director and star of the story of singer Bobby Darin (Mack the Knife), with Kate Bosworth as Sandra Dee, "The Motorcycle" Diaries" stars Gael Garcia Bernal ("Amores Perros" and "Y Tu Mama Tambien"). This road trip movie chronicles the development of Che Johansson and Tom Wilkinson star in "A Good Woman," based on an Oscar Wilde play. The German thriller "Downfall" chronicles the fall of Berlin at the end of WWII. And "Return to Sender" stars Connie Nielsen, Kelly Preston and Aidan Quinn, in the tale of a lawyer fighting for the life of a woman on death row.

Over 200 films, from across the globe, are part of this year's festival.

Getting there: You can fly to Toronto in about 90 minutes or if you want to drive, it takes about 10 hours. Most Chicagoans don't think of Toronto as a big time destination when looking for a large city to play in such as NYC, San Francisco, LA, or Atlanta. Consider the fact that things cost about the same in Canadian dollars as in US dollars, but with the exchange rate, there is about a 25percent discount. This makes for a true travel bargain.

Eat, sleep, and see movies: Great places to eat abound, the shopping is grand with European fashion flair, and it is the third largest theater district after London and NYC. The "Lion King" played in Toronto for four years!

Some of the restaurants are truly exceptional, Starfish Oyster Bed & Grill is wonderful for fresh seafood and cozy conversation. Le Papillon for French food: moderate prices for high quality dining and glorious ambiance. Milestone's Grill & Bar, for the hip crowd and people watching features a wide selection of gourmet food priced not much above TGIF. Big Daddy's Crab Shack & Oyster Bar: Cajun cooking with the best grilled seafood platter with dirty rice we've ever had for less than $30. Filet of Sole restaurant offers a $12 lunch, where among many items one can choose from is a lobster/crab soup with a baked pastry top as the appetizer followed by lemon sole baked in a parchment wrap.

Our take: We stayed at the Cambridge Suites Hotel and received assistance from Andrew Walker and Jennifer Michaud, who gave us great recommendations for dinner and theater. One was for a theater package that included a choice of dinner at more than 30 upscale restaurants and a tour of the city for only $5 more than the cost of the theater ticket. The hotel is made up exclusively of two-room suites; parking is $16 during the week and $12 on the weekends. Also included is a robust continental Everywhere we went in the city was either a short walk, a $5-$10 cab ride, or a 10 minute hop on a subway system that is more like the clean, air conditioned, on-time Metra than the tight seats on the noisy and frequently delayed CTA.

PETS CORNER

On the go

Josh is a 6-year-old, blond cocker spaniel who has been in and out of Save-A-Pet three times, and will need a special person to adopt him for his fourth and final time. Heather Banach, canine caregiver, said, "This is a really great dog with a wonderful disposition. He's playful and energetic. He just needs some consistency and training." Josh has Josh some consistency and training." Josh has reportedly lived with children and other dogs (though is "iffy" about some dogs). He's been returned for reasons of potty training, though has been good in the kennel where it is clear where he should go and where he should not. He has been de-barked.

Tori

Mirror image

Tori may have fifty-fifty coloration on her face, but she's 100 percent ready for adoption. This 2-year-old, medium coat, tortoise shell cat is friendly with other cats and with older children and adults. Becky Carlen, who works with the cats, said, "She is very playful and has been declawed in the front. She's a lot of fun to have around."

Save-A-Pet is located at 31664 N. Fairfield Road, Grayslake. It's closed on Tuesday, open 1-5 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1-8 p.m. on Thursday and 11 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, For more Information, call 847-740-7788 or go to www.save-a-pet-il.org.

Three amigos

Proud grandmother Janet Dema writes in that her grand-daughter, along with two friends collected over $100 to benefit Save-A-Pet (SAP) in Grayslake. She said, "For days, these girls scoured their neighborhood. It was such a wonderful experience for these kids, delivering over 75 pounds of dog and cat food, collars, cleaning supplies and more (checks written to SAP)." Pictured from left to right, three friends, to each other and all animals, Bailey Wulf, Madeline Adler and Alexandria Otter in front of SAP.

Spay makes stay tolerable

BARKIN' UP

A TREE

rap-neuter-return (TNR) is a humane alternative for the management of feral cat populations that is promoted by an organization called Spay and Stay. It offers informational workshops through the University of Illinois Extension office monthly at its Grayslake location.

Sandra Kooper executive director and co-founder of Spa

Sandra Kooper, executive director and co-founder of Spay and Stay, said the goal is two-fold: stop the breeding and improve the lives of the cats that remain.

"We've neutered about 1K cats in the two and a half years we've been in existence," she said. "This is not a visible impact yet, but to the colony caretakers, it makes a difference."

Kooper said her group will not trap and neuter cats that do not have a colony caretaker, someone who supplies food, water, shelter. She said a caretaker willing and able to supply medical care is a plus.

"When we get to the point where we have hundreds of volunteers (colony caregivers), will be able to do more," she said. "At this point, we just can't get to them all. It makes more sense to do this with animals that are receiving care."

There is a pyramid graphic, or family tree of sorts, often on display at shelters and related Web sites that shows it isn't just rabbits that breed like rabbits. The rate of potential unwanted births is staggering based on a logarithmic growth model.

Kooper said, "This does a good job of jolting people into realizing how important it is to neuter, and in that respect, it is a good visual, but it's not reality. It would only be true if every cat survived and bred to an average of four others, but a lot of these feral animals die because there is no one to care for them."

The monthly workshops are open to the public as well as to local government and law enforcement officials. While there is no cost to attend, pre-registration is required and can be done by calling the University of Illinois Extension at 847-223-8627.

The next workshop will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 21 from 6-7:30 p.m. The Extension office is located on Route 45 north of Route 120, on the east side of the Lake County Fair Grounds.

Kooper said, "Our focus with these workshops is to tell people the advantages of this humane protocol."

There will be a humane trapping demonstration, videos and a feral cat resource kit included as part of the workshop.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

Don't stand back when you see someone making a grave mistake early in the week, Aries. Stop him or her before things get too far along, and try to correct the situation. Your efforts will be rewarded. An old friend asks a favor of you. Don't commit to something that you'll regret.

Ubra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't take an acquaintance's wise-cracks to heart. He or she is just frustrated, and you're the closest person around. Just let it go in one ear and out the other. A loved one causes a family argument. Help sort things out, and try to get family members talking again. It's not going to be easy.

Taurus - April 21/May 21 Don't fight change this week when it comes to your work. The old way of doing things isn't always the best way. Think of it as an improvement. A loved one has an important project for you. Don't be nervous; you definitely are up to the task. Show him or her exactly what you can do.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22 You learn some disappointing news about a close friend. Give him or her the benefit of the doubt until you find out the truth. That special someone has a surprise for you. Before you accept it, think about the consequences. Are you ready for them? Taurus plays a key role.

Gemini - May 22/June 21 Don't get impatient, Gemini, when it comes to a personal matter on Tuesday. You've done all that you can; now, you just have to walt for the outcome. Don't worry; things will work out in your favor. The person whom you've been seeing gets into trouble. Be there for him or her. show how much you really care.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

You feel really good this week, Sagittarius, Share your joy with those around you. You're sure to brighten their day. A friend of a friend needs your help. Do what you can for him or her. Your efforts will be appreclated and rewarded.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

A business associate confides in you about an upcoming event. Keep it to yourself. It is not your place to tell any-one else about this. A family gathering gets a little out of hand late in the week. Do what you can to keep everyone calm. Aquarius plays an Important role on Saturday.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't let your drive to succeed overcome your loyalty to your friends. Betraying those close to you only will cause problems for you in the long run. A loved one gets into a sticky situation and needs you to ball him or her out. Do what you can, but don't get too involved with the problem.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Keep your eyes and ears open this week, Leo. Something suspicious is going on. It is in your best interest to find out what that something is. A close friend is in a bind and needs your help. Do what you can — even if it involves rearranging your plans. It will be worth your while.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
Be practical when it comes to planning your week, Aquarius, Don't bite off more than you can chew. There's a lot going on that needs your full attention. A business associate wants to be more than co-workers. Don't get involved with him or her; it only will lead to trouble.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

A business associate asks to borrow money, Virgo. Say no. This person hasn't given you any reason to trust him or her in the past; don't trust him or her now. You run into an old friend late in the week, and that old flame starts to spark Make plans to see him or her again. This is the beginning of a great relationship.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

While it goes against your nature, Pisces, you get greedy with your possessions. Share what you have with those closest to you they're not going to take anything away from you. A close friend takes you to an interesting party late in the week. Try to have a good time. You're going to: meet someone very interesting there,

Ethics seminar draws community leaders

By JEFF ZACHARY jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

Twenty-five community leaders from Lake and McHenry counties paid $690 each to attend a two-day ethics seminar at the College of Lake County.

Teaching at the seminar was nationally known ethicist Michael Josephson, the founder of the "Character Counts" program that is sweeping the nation.

The program teaches the six pillars of good character, which are trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring and citizenship. During a break at the seminar, Josephson commented on his motivation. "I really care about the world and I truly believe that the root of a better time is for us to return to some age old principles as to what it is that makes a good person."

Josephson added that whenever he asks a class full of community leaders what characteristics they would like to see in a boss, or in an employee, or even in someone who is dating one of their children, the answers always come back to the six pillars of good character.

Round Lake School District 116 Social Worker Kathy Myers, who helped organize the seminar sponsored by the Round Lake Area BEST (Bringing Everyone's Together) Strengths' Coalition, commented, "The teaching was a little harsh. It's hard to be ethical in every decision you make," Myers

OCH PUBLIC LIL RIPH DIS RICCE ACKED BY patience 'Labor of love' ends in arrests of 2 in girl's murder

By MARC JENKINS mjenkins@ lakelandmedia.com

One of the coldest murder cases may have been solved with the arrest of a Lake County man and his ex-girlfriend for the 1969 murder of the woman's 3-year-old child.

Arrested last week were James Michael "Mike" Kent of Lakemoor and Donna Pulsifer Prentice of Genoa, Wis. Officials say the pair murdered Prentice's 3-year-old daughter, Michelle Pulsifer, and buried her in a California canyon 35 years ago. Investigators said the girl died sometime between June 15 and Aug. 15 of 1969. The two were dating at the time.

Kent, 62, was arrested while at Lake County Traffic Court in Mundelein on Aug. 25 and Donna Prentice, 57, was arrested two days later at her Genoa, Wis. home. This week, Lake County Sheriff Sgt. John Byrne said Kent confessed on video to helping Prentice bury the body in Silverado Canyon, east of their Huntington Beach, Calif. home, but insisted he did not murder her.

Ann Friedman, the girl's aunt, bothered by the sketchy details of why Michelle went missing, hired investigators from the Los Angeles-based Paul Chamberlain International to help track down her niece.

In 2001, Paul Chamberlain said he would take the case. He and about a dozen investigators-mostly "ex-FBI guys"worked thousands of hours on almost a daily basis to find the "I saw the TV series girl. (CBS's) "Cold Case." Those (cases) were lukewarm compared to this thing," Chamberlain said. "But I said from the get-go, I was con-

Searching for answers

Following is the Orange County District Attorney Tony Rackauckas statement in the 1969 murder of Michelle Pulsifer.

"In the summer of 1969. Donna Prentice and her two children were living with Michael Kent and his son in a home in Huntington Beach, Sometime around the Fourth of July, Donna's youngest child 3-year-old Michelle Pulsifer went missing. Within a day or two, the family packed up all of their belongings, everything they owned, including the family pets and moved to Illinois. The children were told that there was not enough room in the car for Michelle; instead Michelle would stay with relatives in California. No missing person report was filed and no one talked about Michelle again.

"After two years working on the case (a) private detective handed it over to the district attorney's TracKRS unit which investigates cold cases... Our TrackRS unit came up with a much darker description of what happened to Michelle. What the TracKRS investigation revealed was a series of lies and (un)truths about her whereabouts; in fact, we have concluded Michelle never left that home alive."

Women empowered by voting

BY GINNY SKWERES ginnys@lakelandmedia.com

Eighty-five years ago, women did not yet have the right to vote, but activist's believed voting would be the most effective way to change things. They are probably correct, but unfortunately women have not taken full advantage of that right. The YWCA is still working to empower women, according to Debbie Larker, Director at the Waukegan YWCA.

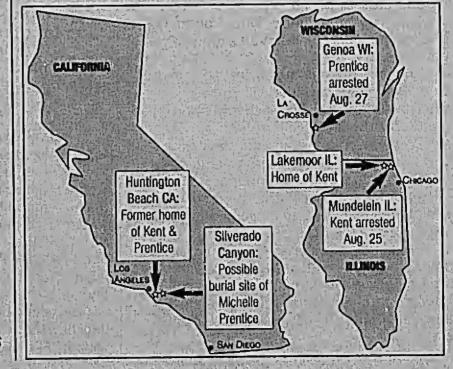

Single women are the largest demographic group with people who don't register to vote, compared to married women, married men and single men. In 2000, there were 22 million single women, who were eligible to vote, but didn't, according to information released by the YWCA. Considering how close recent elections have been, women have the power to make a difference in the outcomes.

In Illinois residents have until Oct. 5 to register for the election to be held Nov. 2. Information about voter registration is available online at www.sos.state.il.us or by calling the Illinois Board of Elections at 217-782-4141. Residents can also register in person at the YWCA, 2133 Belvidere Road, Waukegan. Staff at the location is bilingual. More information is available at the YWCA by calling 847-662-4247,

The Lake County clerk's office came out and trained three women to provide voter registration, which gives them a total of five. If a group or organization would prefer, they could send some out to a location to provide the registration. As is true everywhere, residents must bring two pieces of identification, one of which must be a photo ID and they must be citizens of the United States. Naturalized citizens will be asked for the date ands location of their becoming a citizen. Proof of residency can be verified by bring a current utility bill.

The YWCA is the largest multicultural women's organization in the world. As a society, they've come a long way in eliminating racism and empowering women and the YWCA has been a catalyst for change resulting in generations of self-sufficient women. The YWCA's mission is to empower women and eliminate racism.

X Local volunteers at core of prairie restoration effort

Lake County Forest Preserves hold workdays for public to help

By LAURA JASTRAM Ijastram@lakelandmedia.com

Joan Pallncsar has been volunteering for the Lake County Forest Preserve District for nine years. Palincsar said she averages 50 hours of service per month because she likes the reward.

"I like working outdoors and I like the challenge," Palincsar said.

Tom Smith, stewardship coordinator for the forest preserve, said they rely heavily on volunteers for some of the programs the forest preserve does.

Throughout the month of September, the Lake County Forest Preserve will be continuing to have scheduled workdays at their various preserve locations.

Smlth said the volunteers will begin collecting seed from the local prairie plants throughout the preserves. The preserves have done this process for over 20 years, he said.

The collection process is a part of ongoing prairie restoration projects. Smith said by collecting the local seed from existing plants they can save money rather than having to buy new seed and can be assured they are introducing already well adopted species into their prairies.

Workday volunteers will break off seed heads and put them in paper bags to dry them out, Smith said. During the winter months, the seeds will be cleaned, separated and kept in a cool environment to be planted in the springtime, he said.

"(The seeds) have a chemical preventing them from germinating and need cold treatments to strip them of that chemical," Smith said. "If they are not kept in cold storage over the winter their viability would go down."

Smith said the local prairie plants in the work areas are in their peak for the next 6 to 8 weeks and shortly thereafter their colors will fully "come out." Workday volunteers will get to see what a real prairie looks like where there might be 20 different types of plants in the area, he said.

Last year more than 2,700 volunteers clocked more than 15,000 hours at the forest preserves.

Training will be done on-site at the work-days. Volunteer stewards will show people what to do and will teach them about the prairie, Smith said.

"We try to make it an education experience," he said. "(We tell them) what the seed is used for and why it is important."

Volunteers can see why the forest preserves practice land management, Smith sald.

He said the workdays generally last from 9 a.m. to noon, but that people can stay as long as they are comfortable. He added it is important to be promptly on time and wear long pants, sturdy shoes, gloves and possibly a hat.

Madigan files suit against home repair fraud

After receiving 10 complaints in just seven months from consumers who allegedly were defrauded by a home repairman operating in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties, Attorney General Lisa Madigan has filed a lawsuit against a home repair and remodeling contractor.

According to Madigan's complaint, George Marasas, of Chicago, doing business as Kabinitwerks, accepted more than $40,000 from consumers who hired him for home repair and remodeling services primarily involving the installation or repair of kitchen cabinets. Since January 2004, Madigan's Consumer Fraud Bureau has received 10 consumer complaints against Marasas and Kabinitwerks.

The defendant also was named in a 2003 lawsuit brought by Madigan's office for similar turne repair and remodeling violations committed when he was operating under the company name Solution Remodeling. That lawsuit is pending.

"We allege that Mr. Marasas is a repeat offender when it comes to cheating consumers trying to improve their homes," Madigan sald. "He may have changed the name of his company, but he has not changed his fraudulent business practices."

According to the complaint filed yesterday, Aug. 25, in Cook County Circuit Court, Marasas in one instance allegedly accepted $4,500 as a down payment for replacing cabinets in a consumer's home, ripped out the existing cabinetry and then never returned, leaving the consumer with a torn-up kitchen. Despite repeated requests for a refund by both the consumer and Madigan's office, the money ahs not been returned.

Marasas is being charged with multiple violations of the Illinois Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act for entering into contracts with and accepting money from consumers, and then falling to perform the work.

West Nile virus, misses Lake County for now

By JEFF ZACHARY

jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

Although there have been 14 recorded cases of West Nile virus in Illinois this year, none have been in Lake County and the Lake County Health Department believes the weather may be helping out.

"So far it has not affected us," said Leslie Pietrowski, of the Lake County Health Department. "We have had several dead birds and mosquitoes pools that have tested positive but there are no human cases in Lake County. I think the cold weather may have played a role."

She added that in the beginning of the summer right after the flooding in Gurnee, there were a lot of mosquitoes but that the number has dwindled considerably.

According to the Illinois health Department the most recent confirmed cases include: a 78year-old Chicago woman with West Nile encephalitis, who became ill in mid-August, was hospitalized and has since been discharged.

A 56-year-old suburban Cook County man, who became ill in early August with West Nile encephalitis, and is currently hospitalized.

A 54-year-old DuPage County man, who became ill in mid-August who was hospitalized and later discharged and a 48-year-old Will County man, who became ill in Mid August with West Nile fever and did not require hospitalization.

The state's other human cases of West Nile have been from Boone, Clinton, Ford, Jackson, Jo Daviess, Kendall, Rock Island, Sangamon and St. Clair counties.

West Nile virus is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird.

In 2002, Illinois recorded 884 cases of West Nile which led to 66 deaths.

In 2003, Illinois had 54 West Nile cases including on death.

CLC approves $65 million budget, raises

The College of Lake County board of trustees approved a $65.11 million operating budget for fiscal year 2005 following a public hearing. The balanced budget represents an 8.1 percent increase over last year's budget of $60.24 million.

"The new budget reflects increases in salaries and fringe benefits and the overall cost of operating college facilities, including the new Technology Building, which will open for classes in January," said Jim Rock, vicepresident of administrative affairs and the college's chief financial officer.

The board also approved a new three-year contract with the College of Lake County Federation of Teachers, the faculty union. The agreement calls for a 4.41 percent increase in compensation for faculty in 2004-05, a 4.25 percent increase in 2005-06 and a 4.19 percent increase in 2006-07.

In action relating to the search for a new president to replace Dr. Gretchen Naff, who will retire in June 2005, the board approved a list of individuals to serve on a presidential search committee.

College staff will contact the individuals to determine their availability and interest in serving on the committee. Board Chairman Barbara D. Oilschlager indicated that the list of possible search committee members has been established in keeping with the board's desire that the committee represent the diversity of the college district and students.

The board also seated Gorette De La Rosa, of Round Lake Beach, as the student trustee for 2004-05. De La Rosa replaces student trustee, Steven Le, who has been called up for active military duty.

De La Rosa, who is currently a sophomore, plans to transfer to DePaul University next fall to major in education. She has been active in student government at the college and has participated in the Emerging Leaders Program and Program Board, both initiatives sponsored by Student Activities. Her communlty involvement includes work with the Girl Scouts and Hispanic Outreach in the Round Lake community.

In other action, the board selected CLC President Dr. Gretchen Naff as the recipient of the 2005 Illinois Outstanding Citizen Award in recognition of her exceptional service to the college and the community. As recipient of the award, Naff will be the speaker at the college's commencement ceremony in May.

The board also authorized the payment of $279,066.87 to PeopleSoft, of Palatine, for an annual maintenance and support agreement for the college's information management system; a $25,000 contract with Hey & Associates, of Volo, for monitoring and managing wetlands on the Grayslake Campus to comply with Army Corps of Engineers permit requirements; and purchase of a new internet-based telephone system from Meridian Solutions, of Schaumburg, at a cost of $554,542.26.

Finally, David Weatherspoon, director of student services at the Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan, was named to serve as acting dean of the Lakeshore Campus while Eleanor Murkey, the dean of the campus, pursues a professional development leave.

Judge Santi to retire

Circuit Court Judge Emilio B. Santo said he would be retiring on Sept. 30.

"Emilio's retirement will change the courthouse," said Chief Judge Margaret J. Mullen. "He is truly one of the finest judges in the 19th Judicial Circuit and is very respected for his courtesy and scholarship. He is a mentor to many of us on the bench, and I call him Father Emilio, because so many of us find our way to his chambers to discuss difficult problems. "

Santi was born in Pescia, Italy, near Florence. In 1952 at the age of 5, he came to the U.S. from Italy with his father to join his mother who had been receiving medical treatment here.

After the death of his mother in 1955, Santi, an only child, and his father returned to Italy for a short time and eventually came back to the U.S. where Emilio learned English while attending grammar and high school in the Highwood and Highland Park area. (He also speaks Spanish and French.)

Santo attended Marquette University where he received his undergraduate degree in 1969. Before he could enter law school he was drafted and sent to Vietnam where he served for 15 months. After his discharge he entered law school at Ohlo Northern University where he earned his Juris Doctor in 1974.

Admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1974, Santi began his law career as a Lake County Assistant State's Attorney working for then State's Attorney Jack Hoogasian. He left the State's Attorney's Office in 1976 and became a partner in the firm then known as Ori, Tepper, Lang & Santi. On Jan. 5, 1981, Emillo B. Santi became an Associate Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit.

At the time, Santo was 33 and the youngest judge ever appointed in Lake County. He has been assigned to several types of cases including Juvenile, chancery, civil back-up, small claims, traffic and DUI trials. He currently serves as the Arbitration/Probate Judge.

When Judge Santi is not on the bench he enjoys golf and then more golf. In fact, golf is near and dear to him for another reason -Santi met his wife Carol at a golf outing. They have two sons, Brendan and Peter.

A retirement breakfast for Judge Santi is being planned for Friday, Sept. 24, at the cour-

Kids' Korner cares for 20,000 kids

Kids' Korner is a children's waiting room located on the first floor of the Lake County Courthouse, The mission of Kids' Korner is to provide a safe and fun waiting area for children who are in the courthouse to testify in court or whose parents or guardians are conducting court business.

"Kids' Korner protects children from confusing, frightening, and inappropriate adult business or behaviors," said Rosanne Sherwood, Kids' Korner coordinator.

"This year we are celebrating our 10th year, as well as the fact that we have provided a safe haven to over 20,000 children involved with the court system," mentioned Chief Judge Margaret Mullen.

While at Kids' Korner children are made to feel safe and secure. They receive sustained and encouraging adult contact and guidance from trained staff and volunteer caregivers at a stressful time in their young lives.

Founded in 1994, Kids' Korner was created to address the needs of children in the courthouse. "I am proud to tell you that Kids' Korner was the brainchild of former Chief Judge Jane Waller, and that her idea has reached astonishing success," Mullen said.
"And, through the leadership and creative enthusiasm of Rosanne Sherwood, we have a program that is a model for the state."

Children left in Kids' Korner must be between the ages of 2-12. The waiting room is open Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m. and 1:15-5 p.m. This is a free service provided to parents and guardians. Since opening its doors in 1994, the average number of children who have been placed in the care of Kids' Korner has reached almost 200 per month.

Kids' Korner is a very special way that the Lake County Courthouse shows its concern for children and families. Anyone Interested in volunteering or who may need additional information may contact Rosanne Sherwood at 847-377-3825 or visit its Web site at www.19thcircuitcourt.state.il.us.

Waukegan bank board member retires

Margaret G. (Peggy) Gupton retired this month from her position as Director and Board Chairman of Waukegan Savings and Loan SB.

Gupton served the bank for a total of 50 years beginning her career when she joined the bank as a teller in 1954. Her original intent was to temporarily assist her father, Michael E. Gust, at the bank he managed. She began to wear many hats as she learned all aspects of the banking business and in 1972 she was elected to the bank's board of directors. In 1973, she was elected assistant vice president, in 1979 she was elected vice president and named president in 1980.

Gupton was the first woman in Lake County to head a financial institution. She continued as president of the bank until 1996 when she was succeeded by Theodore J. (Ted) Stanulis but remained active as Director and Board Chairman until this month.

"Peggy has done an outstanding job both as president and chairman of the board," Stanulis said. "We will miss her expertise and counsel."

Gupton was honored at a celebration following the bank's annual meeting last month.

New high school in county spotlight

orking your way through school has new meaning at St.
Martin de Porres High School of Waukegan. Opening its doors for the first time with the start of the 20042005 academic year, the school is based on a concept combining academics, religious instruction and jobs to defray the annual $8,650 tuition. More than 25 companies in Chicago are providing jobs for students attending the network of schools subscribing to the goal of offering a Catholic collegepreparatory curriculum.

One hundred students are enrolled at the freshman and sophomore level with 60 percent of the student body Latino, 30 percent black and 10 percent other races.

Combining work with school certainly is no novelty for hundreds of Lake County teenagers. In fact, public school educators typically are understanding in formulating work-school arrangements, especially for upperclassmen. But at St. Martin de Porres, the jobs offer the children of low income families a fast track to higher education.

St. Martin de Porres has a unique opportunity for both providing educational and leadership opportunities for its students while at the same time serving as a beacon for the assimilation into the main-stream of society of Lake County's rapidly growing Hispanic population.

The Catholic school with a work-study concept is not an experiment. One of the principal funders of the network is the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. St. Martin de Porres High School is the seventh to be patterned after Cristo Rey Jesuit High School in Chicago. The new school has our best wishes for a successful first year and continued attainment in future years.

CLC responding to dull lifestyles

ith the eighth season due to be launched, the 2004-2005 schedule of events for the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts a College of Lake County Grayslake campus looks bigger and better than ever.

For the so-called cultural suburban wilderness, the new season's attractions offer an unbelievable variety of programs at prices below "downtown" show rates, variety, comfort of three different venues including the 600-seat Mainstage Theater, and free parking! While there is a nominal charge for most programs, some are free. The CLC box office even has a "Flex Series" where patrons can choose four or more events and create their own subscription series.

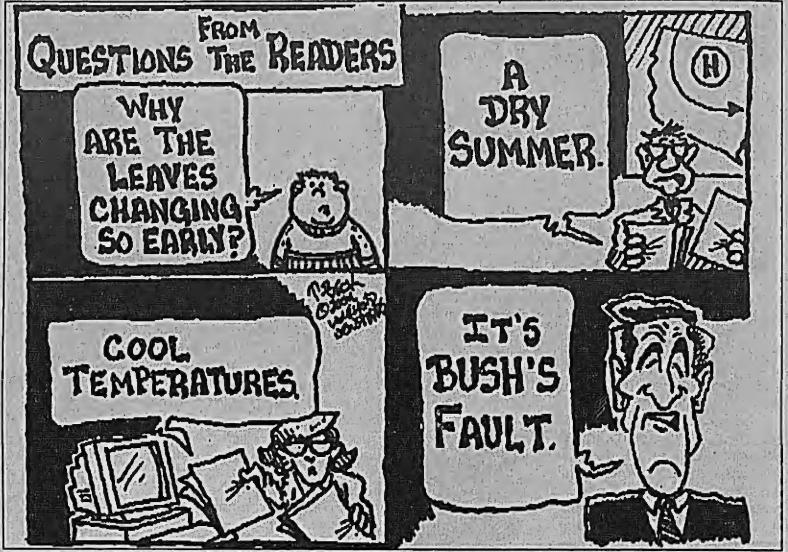

The upcoming year promises to maintain a high performance level as indicated by such renowned entertainers as Maynard Ferguson, Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers, the Capitol Steps, Peking Acobats, Irish Rovers, Richard Smallwood, Kathy Mattea and Second City, which has been booked for a return engagement for comedy lovers Friday, Sept. 17. For "big names" a fast start is promised Sunday, Sept. 19, with two shows featuring the Coasters, Drifters and the Platters in a salute to doo-wop music and pop hits.

CLC cultural events aren't just for adults. The Children's Theater five performances of "The Hobbit" Sept. 30-Oct. 3 will thrill youngsters. During the holidays, there will be two performances of "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates" that the entire family can enjoy.

We want to put in a special plug for the CLC Jazz Ensemble concerts Dec. 9, Feb. 27 and April 20 that are free with tickets arranged in advance. Lake County has a special breed of jazz musicians who are showcased at CLC throughout the year.

Theater has a high place on the CLC schedule. Auditions are open to student and members of the community. For example, does "Born Yesterday" and "Jesus Christ Superstar" whet your appetite? Lectures aren't overlooked. This season's series has an intriguing sports program April 12, "Could the 1906 Cubs Defeat the 2004 Cubs?" And so it goes. Films, foreign culture, conferences, art shows and sales, and even six sessions in January and February on life drawing. The models will be clothed, according to the program, but there will be plenty of tips, inspiration and motivation offered to budding artists.

So don't let any of your city friends bemoan Lake County's boring lifestyle. CLC's abundance of performing arts and cultural events will keep the calendar humming the next 12 months. Then you're on your own!

Why Keyes vote won't be wasted

here's a swell of opinion, mostly from liberal elites, but a few Republicans, too, maintaining that a vote for Alan Keyes for the U.S. Senate will be an empty gesture for voters supporting the GOP nominee. With an apology to a certain late night to host, this column submits the Top 10 reasons why that won't be so.

10—Voting for Keyes guarantees your part in making history whereby for the first time, two African Americans are pitted against each other for a U.S. Senate seat.

9—It's easy to understand Keyes. He leaves no doubt where he stands on issues. You don't have to vet or parce his words.

8—Keyes is a candidate who serves up his views with grits, not a side dish of yogurt.

7—The amount of the Keyes votes will indicate how far lilinois is on the way to becoming the Massachusettes of the Midwest.

6—As a polar opposite, Keyes will measure how far out his opponent is from traditional America values.

5—Support for Keyes will demonstrate the stereotype of African Americans as knee-jerk backers of Democrats Is incorrect.

4—Keyes' candidacy shows the GOP also can play the game of employing hired guns; that Democrats don't have a lock on the carpet bagger strategy.

3—Republicans can't be accused of ignoring the plight of an unemployed back man.

2—Alan Keyes is proof positive that fiery campaign oratory is not a lost art in the American political process.

1—Alan Keyes is a true-blue American (the only color that matters) who as an elected official would not be willing to sell out American principals in some sort of global popularity contest.

Saying Goodbye

Dignitaries and friends will say goodbye in style at a traditional Navy Hall & Farewell ceremony Sept. 25 honoring Rear Adm. Ann Rondeau, Naval Station Great Lakes, who is being transferred to a new assignment in Norfolk, VA. The program will be at Harrison House, Lake Bluff. Adm. Rondeau is one of the most popular CO's ever to serve at Great Lakes. Her new assignment promises to be even more demanding than her duties at Great Lakes that included responsibility for all Navy education and training with the exception of the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis.

One man's family

There'll be a "Club Med" atmosphere for the Labor Day weekend holiday with family members living in far-flung locations converging for a reunion. Among the visitors will be two golden retrievers who insist on being the center of attraction. No problem, though, with sleeping accommodations for the goldens. They're happy to bunk in with anyone who'll have them.

Drug discount program—a big flop

ast February, I wrote a column titled "Drug industry making SUCKERS of consumers," and warned that the Medicare Bill passed a few months before then would not produce the intended and promised reduction in prescription drugs. I believed then that the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), which is supposed to be the guiding lobby to support senior citizen causes, was totally misguided in endorsing the legislation.

The bill was a "no-brainer" was so obvious. Everyone knew that the drug companies and healthcare and insurance corporations were the "behind the scenes" drafters of the law. How can that benefit our seniors?

Under the first phase of the Medicare expansion bill, senior citizens were asked to examine some 70 medical discount cards to see which, if any, serve them best. In 2006, Medicare recipients would be required to decide if they want to participate in a much costlier drug subsidy program. Opponents of the law have been alarmed that the intent of this all along is to do away with Medicare to enrich the "already rich" insurance carriers.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Well, wouldn't you know it, last month AARP admitted the law isn't working as they had hoped. First of all, only five percent of seniors eligible for the program have applied for the so-called discount card. One of the reasons was they made things as complicated as they could. The other, and probably more plausible, reason, was that seniors weren't as stupid as the AARP to believe the new law would be the magic wand to bring them affordable prescription prices.

The AARP also reported that the prices for 200 brand-name drugs increased three times the rate of inflation. Their policy director said, "Manufacturers are offsetting discounts with prices higher than they otherwise would have

G umn says it all—the drug companies are making suckers of consumers."

It is one thing for the drug industry to make suckers of us consumers and our senior citizens, but how did they suck in the AARP which is supposed to be "looking out for seniors" on issues before Congress and state legislatures. Maybe the AARP wasn't as fooled as they appear to be now that the program isn't working. They may have their own agenda as an insurance carrier.

I am told that the AARP phones were "ringing like crazy" with seniors who protested AARP's endorsement of the Medicare Bill and the faulty prescription drug discount program. Is the AARP acknowledgement of the astronomic rise of drug prices a "mea culpa" admission that they were at fault on their assessment and support of the legislation. Would they admit that?

One thing that AARP should learn. Don't get the masses of seniors mad. They will get mad and

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Democratic union gives Osmond backing

tate Rep. JoAnn D. Osmond (R-Antioch) is a rarity in politics: A Republican getting an endorsement from a union dominated by Democrats.

The Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) is backing Osmond for re-election in the 61st District. The union has 90,000 members in the ranks of teachers, educational workers, state employees and dental hygienists. The AFT is dwarfed by the Illinois Education Assn.

Osmond called the IFT backing a "great honor." The first-term Republican as cited for her work on behalf of Gavin School in solving its dangerous roof problem, supporting teachers' retirement and protecting other benefits.

Continuation of teachers' retirement benefits was signed into law in July with backing of the Illinois State Board of Education, IEA, IFT, Illinois Business Roundtable, various business interest groups, School Management Alliance and institutions of higher education.

Osmond is carrying on a family tradition in politics of strong support for education. Her late husband, State Rep. Tim Osmond, was known as the "Education Representative" when he served in Springfield.

Osmond: Union backing wins approval of state rep.

Meserli: Departure recalls 1991 separation of predecessor.

New look clerk

Mundelein officials are looking into the feasibility of creating the position of deputy village clerk that would relieve the elected clerk of all but statutory and ceremonial duties. The appointed deputy would be a full-time and handle a variety of administrativeduties. If adopted the change likely would be effective when consolidated elections are held in the spring of 2005.

Fits in day job

With his busy schedule, it always isn't noticeable that Lincolnshire Mayor Bret Blomberg also has a day job. Besides viilage resonsibilities, Blomberg also serves a adult adviser for the local Sea Cadets program for youths interesting in learning about the Navy and possible careers in the sea services. About that day job. Blomberg owns and operates a heating, air conditioning and ventilating engineering business.

Bean write-in?

Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th) isn't going to make an issue out of the fact that his opponent is a non-resident. "I just find it amusing that she won't be able to vote for herself," chuckled Crane as he shook hands during a weekend of campaigning. Democratic nominee and Barrington resident Melissa Bean is a resident of the loth Congressional district represented by Republican Mark Kirk. Bean isn't breaking any law by running as a non-resident, but she would have to move into the district if elected. Crane found himself in the same predicament some years ago when he acquired property for a new home in the Pistakee Bay area of McHenry County only to find himself redistricted out of McHenry County. That's how he became a condo. owner in Wauconda where he has resided for a number of years. Question: how will Bean mark her ballot for Congress? Maybe a write-in just to avoid a pass.

Familiar voice

The guest speaker at the Lake County
Farm Bureau's annual meeting Monday, Sept. 20, has a familiar voice, but a face who might spark questions of "who's ine?" Max
Armstrong, WGN personality and noted ag business reporter, will address the meeting set for Marriott's Lincolnshire.

History repeats

The departure of Steve Meseril, former director of the Lake County Forest Preserve District, has an eerie resembiance to the separation of his predecessor, Jerry Soesby. In 1991 Meseril replaced Soesby who had been on the job for 24 years, the first appointed executive of the district. Soesby left in a surprise move by then Forest Preserve District President Andrea Moore, shortly after she took over the post. Soesby went on to become director of the famous Allerton Estate, owned and operated by the University of Illinois. Moore left county government when elected a state representative and now has the No. 2 position in the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources.

IDOT sentences Oak tree to die

n their infinite wisdom, the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) has taken down a beautiful old oak tree situated at the far outside edge of the road right of way on Highway 173 east of Antioch.

Last year this was about to happen and we managed to stop it. The tree had been hit by a vehicle almost 15 years ago and tragically two people died. But the tree was not in their way, they were drunk and feil asleep, drove off the road and hit the tree. A portion of the tree also died and the dead branches were hanging precariously over the road. They needed to be cut out but the rest of this beautiful old oak was doing just fine.

Last year we made some phone calls and got the senseless destruction stopped. This year, IDOT came back and remarked the tree and then the marks were removed but the tree service showed up this morning anyway and started cutting it down. My husband and I tried talking to the tree service but they just kept hacking and cutting. I called IDOT and they came out but by then it was too late.

IDOT puts a new road in and they plant a bunch of soft trees that don't really provide any purpose and then they come by a beautiful old like this one and they just pronounce a death sentence. It makes no sense to me.

I am not usually a tree hugger, but in this instance the common sense was thrown out the window. Our family has owned this farmland for close to 60 years. This tree has been here longer than that. We pay taxes on this land to the center of the highway and no one ever told us that this tree was slated for destruction. That is not the right way to do things. There should be notification at the very least to large property owners for something like this. The communication between property owners and the State and Federal Governments is non-existent. No one ever listens to the little guy anymore. I am so furious, I could just spit nails. What a senseless waste.

Lynn Doolittle Antioch

Don't wait; get started

Every year some people talk about their plans to make one, or more, New Year's resolution, however, a mere month or two after the New Year begins they talk about how and why they failed to keep the resolutions so recently made.

Let's face it, where is it written that a New Year's Resolution has to be kept immediately the New Year begins? After all, a New Year's resolution is just that: a resolution made to be kept in the New Year. There is no specific date by which this obligation has to be met is there? So, we have until the last day of the New Year to keep any resolution that we made and up until that date if we do not keep it, we cannot be judged as having failed.

So, take heart all those who planned to quit smoking, lost weight, exercise a couple of times a week, or be nice to their boss; there is still time to keep those resolutions. The New Year is not yet over.

Valerie Chisholm Wauconda

Promoting Illinois

Recent editorials suggest that the Illinois Republican Party continues to lack direction. To clarify at least one point, I was the Central Committeeman to make the motion to offer Dr. Alan Keyes the Republican Senate candidate spot.

In recent years politics in both parties have focused on personalities, not issues, principles, or platform. We cannot win a Hollywood type beauty contest. We will win if the election focuses on values and policy. No one can better articulate Republican ideals and a proven philosophy of achieving objectives than Dr. Keyes.

Everyone in this country carries a bit of lilinois in their heart. The Republican platform has not changed substantively since Abraham Lincoln carried our banner in 1860. Freedom for all, opportunity, non-oppressive taxes and government, national security—these continue to be our vanguard principles.

In contrast to this is a Democratic opponent who means well, constantly referring to his Kenya/Kansas roots. I lived in Kenya, learned Swahilli, my son was born in Africa. I lived and trained in Kansas. No one I have ever met is ideologically further removed from the entrepreneurial/capitalist success story of Kenya or the rugged individualistic conservative ethic of Kansas than Barack Obama.

Dr. Keyes, with solid American roots and extensive political experience, will be far better able to promote the interests of this state and Nation in the U.S. Senate. The key to democracy is an informed elaborate. Now we have a chance for honest discussion and debate on the issues.

No, the Illinois Republican party is not lost, only getting back to solid basics.

William C. Dam Central Committeeman 8th Congressional Dist., Fox Lake

Helping victims

As we watched the weather station trying to predict where Hurricane Charley was going to hit the Florida gulf coast, we knew there was nothing we could do except wait and see if our neighbors, friends and condo, in Venice would survive. Fortunately for us, our town never lost power and very little damage was done.

Then we started seeing pictures from the town just 25 minutes south of us. The devastation of the quaint village of Punta Gorda, and most of Charlotte County, made us realize just how lucky we were. We wanted to help our neighbors who became victims of this terribie storm.

Since we had been in contact with Brian Muers, our realtor and president of the Chamber of Commerce in Venice throughout this storm, we asked if there was a more direct fund we could send a donation to.

The Gulf Coast Community Foundation of Venice has set up an immediate Hurricane Charley Disaster Relief Fund where 100 percent of your contribution will be used for disaster relief. You can even earmark your contribution to be used for specific communities like Punta Gorda, that contained over 30 trailer home parks filled with elderly people. If you decide you want to help, please call, write or e-mail your donation to: Gulf Coast Community Foundation of Venice www.gulf-coastcf.org 601 Tamiami Trail, South Venice, FL 34285. #### Outside support

I climbed an old rickety, winding stairway over the police lot and road barn to reach the Lakemoor Village Hall in McHenry County. That lot and barn is minuscule because McHenry County, McHenry Township, Lake County, Grant Township, and the Illinois Department of Transportation service Lakemoor needs.

Why should we care about Lakemoor? I care because the village is hearing plans for Rockwell, a subdivision of 1,000 home sites, some buildings containing eight condos. The vast majority of these homes are to be in Lake County and Grant Township. Apart from roads, drainage, and obstructions, they will rely upon the overcrowded, wall bursting Big Hollow and Grant High schools, fire and police departments, water, sewer and most all legal services.

In order to gain approval, the builders promise to complete the Lake County and Grant Township portion of the project seven years ahead of home sites in McHenry County. The small McHenry portion of Rockwell will probably be upgraded in order to pacify its formidable opposition, the Lakemoor Citizens Association.

Should our stacked, competing and duplicating governmental bodies concern us? What can we in Lake County do to protect ourselves from the handful of people who own that land? What weight will our voice or vote have before the Lakemoor Building and Zoning Department? None, I suggest. Talk about taxation without representation. Should we not take a new long look at our system of local government?

Charles L. Joly Ingleside

Take back America

If President Bush is given the chance, he will appoint right-wing ideologues that would tip the balance of the Court. Then turn back the clock on many of the freedoms and protections that we now take for granted—including protections for women, the disabled, people of color, the environment, and more.

Isn't it time for the American people to say enough is enough? Our friends and family are being sent somewhere to fight and die for an idea that is not that of the American people. Freedom and justice is the way of this country not Revenge. If these people are religious than they should know what the Bible says about this. Only God may judge man.

Take back our Constitution and our dignity. Vote Democrat.

Temporary Corrections Center opens

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re announced the opening of the temporary Community Based Corrections Center, located at 103 S. Martin Luther King Jr. Ave. in Waukegan.

The facility is adjacent to the current Lake County Jail and will house 96 county-sentenced residents during construction of the Lake County Secure Detention Conversion and Work Release Tower Addition.

In a collaborative effort between the Lake County Board, the City of Waukegan, the 19th Judicial Circuit and Del Re's office, plans were put in place to construct the temporary facility to house 96 offenders while renovations were being made to the existing facility. The offenders housed in the temporary facility have been sentenced to the county jail to serve a sentence in a Community Based/Work Release Corrections Center,

This construction and transfer of residents to this facility will make way for the renovation and conversion of the current Community Based Corrections Center to secure detention units that will house 188 inmates. Simultaneously, an 8-story Community Based Corrections Center will be built that will house 285 offenders sentenced to a Community Based/Work Release program. Community Based programs allow for the offenders to serve their sentence while maintaining employment, treatment, education and public service obligations.

The temporary facility is scheduled to be occupied for approximately 16 months while construction is under way. Completion of the project is expected in January 2006.

CASE

vinced we'd find her in a week.

Although Michelle was not-and still is not—found, Chamberlain kept plugging away.
As his costs climbed well into five-digits, there came a point where he couldn't take any more money from Friedman.

"I spent a long time with the FBI working on kidnapping cases, for big-money ransoms, Chamberlain said. "Now you got this missing girl, who's very young and you look at it and say, 'Where the hell is this little girl?' We wanted to help find the girl. We stopped charging (Friedman). It then become labor of love.'

Although lie declined to note specifics for fear of jeopardizing a court case against Prentice or Kent-he said his company found substantial circumstantial evidence to convince him that the two murdered Michelle. But he-nor any other official to this day-could not say how or why she was murdered.

"The amount of work we did would have led us to that conclusion," Chamberlain said. Authorities sald Prentice claimed she left her daughter with relatives, after moving from California in 1969. Prentice is fighting her transfer to California, as she remains in a Vernon County, Wis. jail. She has a court date on Sept. 22 to initiate formal proceedings.

But first, California Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger is expected to sign an application for extradition letter to Wisconsin Gov, Jim Doyle to start the process. Bond for Prentice will likely be $1 million or more.

The Orange County District Attorney's Office said Kent waived extradition proceedings and has already been in court, making an Aug. 27 appearance. His case is continued to Sept. 10. where he is expected to be arraigned. Kent is in Orange County jail on $1 million bond.

Kent has not yet entered a plea, but is likely to at that hearing.

"The investigator mentioned when he went and started looking for background on this girl, in his words, it was like she disappeared from planet," said Orange County District Attorney spokesman Mark Macaulay.

"There was never a missing persons report, there was no reason to believe anything was wrong. This case was as cold as they

Some friends of Kent, including Karen Kuester of Pell Lake, Wis., who was a friend of his for almost 10 years, were surprised when they saw his name in connection to the murder.

"I feel so horrible that he's had to live with this for so long, if he did do it," Kuester said. "When I saw his face on the TV, my heart sank. We were very shocked and saddened by the news."

If God had trouble raising children, what makes you think it would be a piece of cake for you?

e all love our kids, but sometimes they can be frustrating. Laughter can be the best medicine. A friend of mine just sent this to me online and I almost split my sides laughing. The author was not listed, so to the author of this wonderful piece—thank you for the laughter.

To those of us who have children in our lives, whether they are our own, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, or students...here is something to make you chuckle. Whenever your children are out of control, you can take comfort from the thought that even God's omnipotence did not extend to His own children After creating heaven and earth, God created Adam and Eve. And the first thing he sald was "Don't!"

"Don't what?" Adam replied.

"Don't eat the forbidden fruit." God said.
"Forbidden fruit? We have forbidden fruit? Hey Eve-we have forbidden fruit!!!!!"

"No way!"

"Yes way!"

"Do NOT eat the fruit!" said God.
"Why"

"Because I am your Father and I said so!"
God replied, wondering why He hadn't stopped creation after making the elephants.
A few minutes later, God saw His children having an apple break and He was ticked!
"Dldn't I tell you not to eat the fruit?" God asked.

"Uh huh," Adam replied.

"Then why did you?" sald the Father.

"I don't know," said Eve.
"She started it!" Adam said

"Did not!"

"Did too!"

"DID NOT!"

Having had it with the two of them, God's

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

punishment was that Adam and Eve should have children of their own. Thus the pattern was set and it has never changed. But there is reassurance in the story. If you have persistently and lovingly tried to give children wisdom and they haven't taken it, don't be hard on yourself. If God had trouble raising children, what makes you think it would be a piece of cake for you?

Things to think about:

1. You spend the first two years of their life teaching them to walk and talk. Then you spend the next sixteen telling them to sit down and shut up.

2. Grandchildren are God's reward for not killing your own children.

3. Mothers of teens now know why some animals cat their young.

4. Children seldom misquote you. In fact, they usually repeat word for word what you shouldn't have said.

5. The main purpose of holding children's parties is to remind yourself that there are children more awful than your own.

6. We childproofed our homes, but they are still getting in.

Advice for the day:

Be nice to your kids. They will choose your nursing home one day.

And finally:

If you have a lot of tension and you get a headache, do what it says on the aspirin bottle: Take two aspirin and keep away from children!

Dr. Singer is a Psychologist who regularly works in person with readers of this column improving kid,s attention, behavior, processing and learning skills fast. She has been an ADD Coach to many kids on meds and has also trained the skills of many other labeled kids who are not on medication to take them to attention, behavior and learning heights their parents never dreamed they were capable of. For an appointment call 708-962-2549 or (847) 231-5644. Dr. Singer's office is located in Grayslake.

Expectant Family Classes hosted by Advocate Good Shepherd Hospital

Our Childbirth Education Classes are a series of classes that will increase your knowledge of the birth process. You will learn Lamaze techniques; you'll be prepared for the possibility of a Cesarean birth, and you will take a Tour of the Birth Center.

The Great Expectation class is the first in the Childbirth Education series and should be taken as early in your pregnancy as possible. This class will help you focus on your physical and emotional well being during pregnancy. Physical changes, nutritional advice, fetal growth and environmental concerns will also addressed.

For those who attended Lamaze for a previous pregnancy and wish to be updated and refreshed at a quicker pace we offer Refresher Childbirth Class.

The Childbirth Education Classes (CODE 3B05) are held at Good Shepherd Hospital and at the Advocate Health Care Physical Therapy Center in Crystal Lake. Classes are available evenings and weekends; new class sessions will be starting the week of September 20. For information regarding specific days, times and fees and to register call HealthAdvisor at 1-800-3ADVO-CATE(323-8622).

The next scheduled Great Expectation (CODE 3B09) classes will take place Tuesday, September 21, 7:30 – 9:30 p.m. The next Refresher Childbirth Class (CODE 3B08) class will take place Sunday, September 12, 1 – 5 p.m.

Good Shepherd Hospital offers a Breastfeeding Class (CODE 3B10). This one session class will help increase the likelihood of successful breastfeeding. Learn about the myths and misconceptions regarding breastfeeding. Find out how you can work breastfeeding into your busy life. Support persons are encouraged to attend with mom. Our next Breastfeeding Classes take place on Tuesday, September 7 or Monday,
September 27, at 7 – 9:30 p.m.

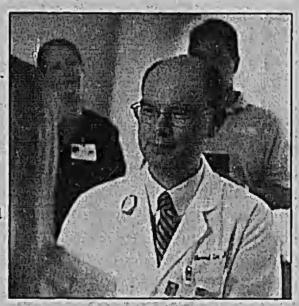

Newborn Basics is a class that can be taken anytime during your pregnancy. It's a one-time class that covers the many facets of caring for the newborn in your life. Bathing and diapering, cord and circumcision care, bottle-feeding, comforting, pets and more are covered in this class. Increase your parenting confidence! Once your baby has arrived you can register for the Baby is Here Class. Baby is Here is a class for mom and baby within 3 months of birth. It's a place to discuss concerns and develop new ideas to help you adjust to your new role as a mother, and to meet other new moms.

Each year more than 2,000 bables are born at Good Shepherd Hospital, which is located north of Barrington on Highway 22. Good Shepherd is a state designated Level II "Plus" Birth Center with extended capabilities. The hospital is affiliated with Advocate Health Care, one of the largest health care organizations in the Chicago area.

in Deerfield, Illinois makes a world of difference in people's lives...

Pamela Andrews opened The Good Feet Store in Deerfield, Illinois in June 2000. She and her sister, Cheryl, have just celebrated their fourth year at the same location. They take a personal interest in every customer and each customer is treated as if they were the only one. Their commitment to helping people who seek needed comfort, balance and support for the feet, has been the key to their survival in a field that is very sensitive yet, greatly needed.

Industry studies show that eighty-five percent of the population has foot related health problems and when they come to our store, most people have tried almost everything, even surgery in many instances. Cheryl said, "I enjoy my job. I get to watch people's lives improve everyday." By aligning their feet, knees, hips and back and by using our Arch Supports, they are helped to distribute their body weight equally, helping them feel better.

Many people suffer from back pain, knee, hip and neck pain. They come to see us because they want to end the pain. When they find out that they can begin to feel better before walking out of the store, it amazes them. Some even feel and say this can't be true after all of these years in pain. Where have you been all my life?

Good Feet/Deerfield carries 22 different types of Arch Supports, 10 varieties of Natural Sponge Rubber Cushions, all Hypo-Allergenic.

The Arch Supports and Cushions work together to help Step Shock, Bunions, Heel Spurs, Callouses, Plantar Fasciitis, and Foot Fatigue.

Each Foot Consultant has been trained to consult with the customer, to determine what is the best Product to be used, based on each customer's lifestyle. We take foot imprints to determine weight distribution and walking patterns and we measure each foot to determine the correct Arch Support to fit their lifestyle activities according to the Arch size. It is remarkable to see how many people who are wearing incorrectly sized shoes, which can cause or add to their discomfort. Good Feet/Deerfield also has and take orders for Double-Depth Shoes, providing a good fit for each customer. Sizes range from 3 to 13 Women's Shoes and Men's sizes range from 4-15, widths from 3A to 5E.

Our customers come from all walks of life - the Medical Field, Manufacturing, Warehousing, the Food Industry, Retired Persons, all who have discovered the benefits of wearing our Products, says

Compared to the traditional avenues of foot pain relief, our Supports are less expensive, more accessible (no appointment necessary), you can take the Products with you the same day and we provide better warranties, most are a lifetime guarantee. Medical Practitioners, including Physicians, Podiatrist and many others refer some of their patients to us. A great number of the Professionals themselves also wear our Products. Pamela mentioned in addition to store visits, we make Corporate Presentations and Product Deliveries to a number of hospitals and businesses both large and small. The company's Human Resource or Personnel Department can call to make this request.

Pamela decided to open the store because the Products prevented her Mom from having a painful operation for heel spurs. Mom could not place her foot onto the floor when she got up in the morning, until she rolled an ice cold can back and forth under her foot for about thirty minutes. My father decided to take her to California on vacation that August. As they sat one afternoon viewing television, the Informercial for The Good Feet Store came on. At first Mom did not want to believe it, as many of our customers do when they come into the store. It took only about 20 minutes for her to become a believer. The rest is history.

The family felt that if this was that helpful to our dear mother, more people needed to know about it. We began from that month planning to open a Good Feet Store in the Midwest. We're the first in the Chicagoland area and in the Midwest. Yet, with all of the experiences with thousands of customers, we feel that it is the caring attitude that makes them come back and bring their families and friends. The store is in unincorporated Deerfield at 20574 Milwaukee Ave. (Rt. 21) between Deerfield & Lake Cook Rds. in the River Run Plaza (west side of Rt. 21). Open 10am-5:30pm, Mon.-Sat.(847) 537-3668.

- Back and here to stay -Loveable American porch

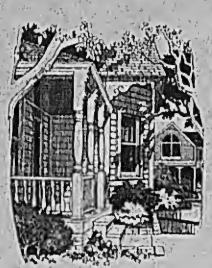

Porches have had a place of honor in the American dream for generations. In past years it has served as the chief grounds courtships, a place where parents could watch their kids play in the twilight on the front lawn, and, in their later years, enjoy a peaceful afternoon snooze. It was the vantage point for watching the world go by. And it's one place where we can enjoy the outdoors without sun block.

"Porches have always been the forestage of everybody's lifestyle, said Bill Gronow, an operating partner of South Barrington-based Kennedy Homes. "Just like fireplaces, they have a spot in nearly every home buyer's heart."

Verandas, terraces, patios, piazzas — by whatever name they're called, they are an amenity buyers may choose these days.

"The porch option they select defines the entire exterior style," said Gronow. "Depending on the plan, buyers may choose from a 'partial' style, or one that extends across the entire front of the house."

Porches of one sort or another have been a part of American housing styles since the nation was formed. At first they were seen only as the columned forecourts in the mansions of the wealthy. This trend continued through the Civil War (remember the columned porch in 'Gone With the Wind'?), when Greek Revival columns not only marked out the porch, but also supported balconies on the level above. Used extensively for social events, the porches could often be enclosed in the event of inclement weather.

"Porches serve much the same purpose as picture windows, in that they bring part of the outdoors inside, and vice versa," said Gronow, "Not only do they add to the value of the home, but they create a first impression before the front door ever opens.

"A porch can define a home's entire exterior, whether it extends just a few feet to either side of the entry, or if it wraps around the entire front of the house," he added. "And regardless of size, as long as there's room enough to sit down without getting hit by the front door, it's a porch."

By definition, the term "porch" means a covered platform at an entrance to a building, and its roots go back through Middle English (porche) and Old French to the Latin porticus, which in turn came from porta, meaning "gate." The term "veranda" has its roots in Hindi, filtered through Persian and Portuguese.

In fact, porches kept their grip on home design until the onslaught of rubber-stamp production homes built for returning GIs and their new families after World War II and the Korean War,

"And today, when every style of home can be found in the marketplace - except perhaps, those rubber-stamp homes - porches are making a strong comeback," Gronow. said. "As the middle ground between a home's interior and exterior, a porch can make a home appear more accessible and friendly, just as sitting on the porch makes it easier to talk to neighbors and create a friendlier community."

his beautiful home with a covered walk-around porch would be perfect in a setting of trees or in a landscaped area. The Lloyd (406-24) has 2,771 square feet of living area with three bedrooms as well as a guest suite that could be used as an in-law suite if needed. Numerous windows are scattered around this home bathing the rooms with iight.

The entry foyer has a large closet on the left as well as a smaller one straight in front. On the right of the foyer is the living room and dining room. A two-sided fireplace is on the corner of the two rooms so it can be enjoyed in both areas. A long shelf lines the wall that separates the living room from the kitchen.

Beyond the dining room is a large, vaulted family room. An entertainment center runs down the right wall and three large windows overlook the backyard. French doors open onto a screen patio in the rear. Adjacent to the family room is the kitchen with an L-shaped island. Two skylights are over the center of the kitchen. A built-in microwave and refrigerator are on the left wall, the dishwasher, sink, and range/oven are in the island. On the back wall is a freezer and a long cabinet for storage. The nook has bayed windows facing the screened

The utility room and a half bath sit at the rear of the two-car garage and shop. At the rear of the home on the right side is the guest suite. It has a large walk-in closet and a private bath with a shower. It is ideal as an in-law suite as it is off the main part of the home and next to the garage.

The left side of the Lloyd is dedicated to bedrooms. In the rear is bedroom 2 and 3. Bedroom 3 has a large window and wall closet. Bedroom 2 has a corner walk-in closet and two large windows. A full bath with a tub is adjacent and convenient to each bedroom.

The master suite is huge and open. It actually has two separate master baths. One has a tub and single sink and the other has a shower and single sink. Between the two is a walk-in closet. Large windows bathe the room in light.

Finished basement answer to shrinking lot size

ccording to U.S. census data, the median homesite size for new single-family homes declined from 9,750 squre feet in 1992 to 8,612 square feet in 2002. However, most new homebuyers aren't willing to accept a decrease in home square footage just because lot sizes are shrinking.

As a solution to this dilemma, more and more builders maximize a home's space by offering finished basements.

"For years, we offered unfinished basements as a standard feature, but the requests for finished basements kept rolling in," said Roger Mankedick, Concord Homes executive. "As we begin introducing new product lines," we knew we could offer buyers the type of customized basement they hadn't seen before in traditional housing.

"We started with just one community, and it took off. Now, finished basements are worked into all of our new single-family product lines."

In 2001, The Courts of Indian Creek in north-suburban Indian Creek, Rte. 45 near Vernon Hills, marked the debut of Concord's maintenance-free Courtyard Series and become its first single-family community to offer optional finished basements.

"The average homesite size at the Courts of Indian Creek is 5,500 square feet, so the homes' floor plates are pretty limited in size," said Mankedick. "Offering finished basements is a practical solution for creating more space, and buyers love it. Many of them grew up in homes with basement rec rooms and know all the great memories they can create in these basements, whether they finish them as second-family rooms, guest suites or play areas."

According to Mankedick, finished basements are especially appealing in in-fill developments because they help keep costs down. "In communities like Concord Village in Lake Zurich and Midlane Club in Waukegan, where land is at a premium, the floor plans in our Courtyard Series are the perfect answer," he said. Sales for both communities started in 2003.

Mother Nature's instant party plants

other Nature seems to have provided you with just one color scheme for your yard: green. You want color and texture fast and there's no time for potting or planting.

Solution: fill your yard, patio and deck with the spectacular blooms of a variety of robust, durable, easy to maintain annuals for an instant garden that looks like it's been there all along, and those blooms and color will last. "Annuals are really nature's readymade party decorations," says Jeff Gibson, marketing manager for Ball Horticultural's "Simply Beautiful" line of annuals. "They provide almost limitless choices for color, bloom continuously, and, best of all, they're live plants, which means you can enjoy their beauty throughout the entire growing season."

But first things first. With the deadline for your outdoor party looming, focus on geraniums, impatiens and petunias, the Big Three of annuals and the real workhorses when it comes to color and bloom.

"Our Simply Beautiful Tidal Wave petunias are bountiful when it comes to filling landscapes or hanging baskets," Gibson notes. "The blooms spread upward and outward spilling over containers and baskets like a thick carpet of color and texture."

Angel Mist angelonia and Fanfare trailing impatiens are also lavish in their spreading floral displays. Angel Mist features orchid-like blooms ideal for beds and containers, or fill an entry container with Fanfare impatiens for a dramatic waterfall of color. Free-flowering and very vigorous, Jungle Gold impatiens are ideal for mixed containers, where they put on a big show in combination with other large, robust container plants.

"Less is more when it comes to color and annuals," says Gibson. "Choosing a single color pattern carries a more dramatic visual impact than mixing and matching. And you can get more bang for the buck in terms of color and coverage by breaking the normal rules for potting and planting annuals that call for spacing them widely apart."

Collective ownership:

Understanding townhouses, condos and co-ops

ome ownership is a goal many aspire to reach. Fed up with the renting scene, thousands of people each year consult their local newspaper or real estate offices to find their dream home. Even with inflated home prices, it home.. Even with inflated home prices, it seems that real estate remains a hooming business.

However, there are some who are hesitant to purchase a home because they are weary of the upkeep and responsibility surrounding ownership. There are solutions for those who desire minimal maintenance responsibilities; townhouses, condominiums and cooperatives. Often the terms are used interchangeably, but there are distinct differences between these types of dwellings. If you are interested in one of these homes, arm yourself with the following information to help you decide what type of ownership is right for you.

Townhouses

Townhouses are usually a series of single story or multistory units that are linked to each other horizontally by common walls. Some even have attached garages or drive-ways. Townhouse owners hold title to their units and the land beneath them, so the units cannot be stacked on top of each other. Owners are responsible for the upkeep of the interior and exterior structure. Common areas like recreation areas, pools and sports courts are owned jointly by all townhouse owners. In addition, owners pay property taxes on their individual units.

A property owners' association usually manages the townhouse complex and collects fees from all owners to maintain common areas. Depending upon the association, snow removal, lawn care and garbage disposal are often covered by the maintenance fees. When browsing real estate listings, look for the terminology fee simple, which will denote a homeowner's association ownership and confirm that you are purchasing a townhouse property.

Condomiums

Condominiums are similar to townhouses but have some striking differences. An individual condo owner only holds title to the condominium unit, not the land > beneath the unit, so condos can be stacked on top of each other. (Although some condominiums are designed to look exactly like townhouses, you still do not own the land beneath your unit.)

All condo owners share title to common areas. Common areas include land, the exterior of buildings, hallways, roofs, swimming pools — any area used by multiple owners. Like townhouses, condominium owners pay property taxes on their individual units as well as fees to the property owners' association. Generally, condominium owners are responsible for less maintenance than townhouse owners. For example, many condo association fees will cover exterior repairs like a new roof, windows, etc. Condo fees can be higher than townhouse fees.

Cooperatives

If property is a cooperative arrangement, title to all associated real estate is held by a corporation. Buyers purchase stock in the coop corporation and are considered shareholders, not owners of real property. Each shareholder holds a lease to his unit that runs for the life of the corporation.

Taxes are paid by the corporation. Any mortgages are normally held and paid by the corporation. All costs to operate the building, including building and common area maintenance, are shared by shareholders.

New cooperative shareholders must usually be approved by an administrative board. Cooperative ownership is not common in most states.

How to make over a bathroom over the weekend

ho has time for extensive home remodeling projects these days? Many homeowners are looking for fast improvements that can be tackled over a weekend. Many rooms of the house - including the bathroom - can be made over in just a few

If your bathroom could use a few cosmetic improvements, there are simple steps you can take for a big impact:

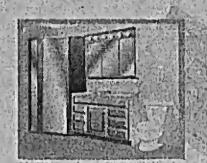

· Throw away any accessories that you don't use regularly. Clutter can drag down the look of any room.

• Freshen the color of the bathroom with a new coat of paint in a semi-gloss finish. This finish will help repel moisture and will be easier to clean. You may also want to choose a paint that offers mildew resistance.

· Lay a new floor. New products can actually be installed over existing flooring. Interlocking tile products take the guesswork out of tiling and don't require mortar. Simply lock into place and use the mousse-like grout to finish.

 Choose new accessories that coordinate with your style. Look for similar finishes on faucets, towel bars, wastebaskets and a tissue holder.

Clean, clean, clean. Scrub shower tiles the bathtub. Dirt and soap scum will be more obvious against freshly painted walls.

 Install shelving for storage or decorative accents. A glass shelf will look inconspicuous on a bathroom wall and complement the room.

 Consider new lighting. Task lighting as well as overall lighting can transform the · Choose soft and luxurious bath mats and towels in coordinating colors. This can give an elegant aura to the room. Roll some decorative towels and display in a basket.

 Replace draperies and shower curtains with new designs to update your look.

 Indulge in fragrant bath salts and beads to give the bathroom a spa-like feel. Plus, add them to your bath to reward yourself for a job well done.

Did you know???...

- A burst pipe can damage your house in a matter of minutes. In case of this or another emergency, be ready to shut off the main water supply quickly. Let members of your family know where the main shut off is. Clear away boxes and furniture so it is easy to get at. If it requires a tool to shut off your water, keep it handy.
- Veneered woodwork is a popular and often cost-effective way to enhance the look of your room. Wood veneer is a thin slice of superior wood that is applied to a base of inferior wood (often medium density fiberboard (MDF) to give it the appearance of oppulence. You can find veneer on everything from furniture, and paneling to doors and walls. Not only can it transform private residences, many commercial buildings and corporate offices rely on veneered products for their decor.

Alim planning to build five custom homes in suburban Wadsworth

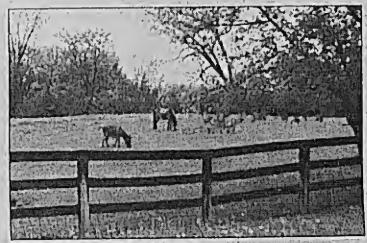

ustom home designer Alim Builders has acquired more than five acres of wooded land to build a cluster of new, single-family homes in the exclusive Jonathan Knolls enclave in Wadsworth.

Five home sites are ready for custom build out at Jonathan Knolls, which is incorporated into the Village of Wadsworth. More than 30 custom homes already have been developed at Jonathan Knolls, and a close-knit community has evolved.

Alim said its home prices will range between $800,000 and $1.2 million. One of the home sites includes a possible walkout and pond.

The Jonathan Knolls development is located near. major highways and thoroughfares, including Jonathan Knolls, a 100-acre Interstate 94 and U.S. 41, and is serviced by the Millburn School District and Warren High School in nearby Gurnee.

Patio doors provide homeowners performance that 'hinges' on perfection

atios are the perfect outlet to showcase your indoor style outdoors. Whether you're hosting a summer barbecue on your deck or using the patio doors as a window to enjoy the outdoors during the winter, your patio doors need to be fashionable all year-round.

For years, patio doors have had the reputation of providing lackluster performance: sticking in their tracks, allowing rain and air to seep through and being easy prey for burglars. While the majority of patio doors add beauty and light to the home, only a high performance patio door system also performs in harsh weather and sustains high traffic from family and pets. Performance depends on the design and construction of the door — from its ability to withstand heat, rain and cold, to technology that virtually eliminates air and water infiltration, to styling that integrates the patio with other design elements of a Therma-Tru is leading the industry in designing sliding patio door systems that meet tough coastal applications. Several configurations of Therma-Tru Sliding Patio Door Systems have achieved a Design Pressure of 50, which means the system can withstand 171 mph winds, water penetration of eight inches of rain per hour in 54 mph winds, and air infiltration from 25 mph winds.

Home investment

Adding a deck to your home gives you a 106 percent return on your investment, with the patio door being the deck's most essential element. With outdoor living gaining popularity, companies are rushing to keep up with consumer demands, creating new patio doors with more design options than ever. But perhaps the biggest innovation in patio doors is the shift to fiberglass, a material that outperforms aluminum, steel and wood.

"Three issues are driving the trend towards fiberglass," says Dirk Myers, business manager, Therma-Tru Patio Door Systems. "A continual, strong construction market; the performance of fiberglass over traditional building materials; and the desire of builders to purchase patio and entry doors from the same source." Myers adds that fiberglass won't warp, crack or rot like wood, nor will it dent, ding or corrode like steel, and Therma-Tru's fiberglass patio door systems carry some of the best warranties in the industry.

Types of patio doors

There are two primary types of patio doors: hinged (or swinging) and sliding. Which one you choose depends on your home's layout and style and how you plan to use the door. Hinged patio doors offer classic French-door elegance, often fitting nicely in a kitchen connecting to a patio or a family room that leads to a deck. If interior space is at a premium, you might consider a hinged patio door that swings out. This type of door is ideal if you live in a climate with high winds and inclement weather, since winds simply push the door against the jamb, ensuring a tighter seal.

Sliding patio doors come in a variety of styles and offer space advantages unavailable with other door styles. This more contemporary look is ideal for spaces where you want a large viewing area and lots of light.

Therma-Tru offers both types of patio doors in a variety of styles. One of the most popular door collections from Therma-Tru is the Fiber-Classic(R) Hinged Patio Door System, which comes with a lifetime limited warranty. The interior features realistic oak graining that can be stained or painted to match any decor. Durable composite materials and other components — like the high-performance, adjustable slil and security strike plate that withstands 450 pounds of force — ensure durable performance and energy efficiency.

Fiberglass patio doors are stylish and offer durable performance without warping, chipping or denting.

An optional multi-point keyed locking system is available, which enhances security because the lock engages the frame at three points, rather than just one. It also keeps the door panel seated squarely in the frame, ensuring proper alignment and weather sealing even if the house settles.

New fiberglass materials and design options are making the rich look of a wood door more affordable and easier to maintain, and patio doors are easier than ever to replace.

Therma-Tru offers homeowners design ideas, installation tips and a complete door selection on its Web site at www.thermatru.com. The site features an extensive product catalog with photos and descriptions of each patio door system along with a patio door configurator to help you select the patio door that best fits your home. Therma-Tru door systems are available at lumberyards and building materials distributors nationally.

Divide some perennials this fall

hink gardening is just for the spring and summer? Think again! Just because it's fall doesn't mean you can't spend time honing your green thumb. The season is the ideal time to care for your flower beds, especially perennials.

A common fall chore in a perennial garden is that of dividing. There are three main reasons for dividing perennials: to control the size of the plants, to help rejuvenate them and to increase their number. While there is no set rule when to divide them, generally, it is best to divide spring and summer blooming perennials in the fall, and fall bloomers in the spring. Dividing the plant when it is not flowering enables the plant to focus its energy on growing new roots and leaves.

You have two options when dividing perennials. You can dig up the whole clump and then separate it into several smaller clumps, or you can use a digging tool to slice and remove sections of the plant, leaving part of it intact. Generally, it's better to dig out the whole clump and carefully split it into sections. Either way, however, it's important to have the proper digging tool. Look for a spade with a long, narrow blade to provide precise, controlled digging. Fiskars Garden & Outdoor Living offers one that comes pre-sharpened and ready to use. The Fiskars(R) Transplanting Spade also features an oversized oval grip with room for two hands and an enlarged step area on the blades that provides added security for digging, prying or lifting heavy root balls.

Use the right tools when gardening. Fiskars Transplanting Spade features an enlarged step for secure footing, allowing you to apply greater force when tackling tough soil. The length and narrowness of the blade make this tool ideal for controlled digging and transplanting.

After removing, prune dead and damaged tissue, and make sure each section has a portion of roots and leaves. Replant the divisions in preprepared holes at the same depth they were in the original bed. Water the new divisions plentifully, and keep them well-watered throughout their first year.

What to do in September

Plant now:

Take advantage of the fall planting season for deciduous plants. Without leaves, the plant is under less stress, yet roots are still growing. The soll is often in better planting condition than in spring, when it may be saturated from rains or melting snow. Be aware that some tree varieties (mainly willows, oak and birch) cannot be transplanted in the fall.

Think of the future:

Know the growth habits and needs of ornamentals and trees before the purchase is made and the installation performed. What will be the mature size of the tree? Will it be too large for the intended planting area? Do not be forced to cut down a beautiful tree years from now due to a past planting mistake. Will it block desirable views? What are the maintenance requirements? Is the needed maintenance in your budget? -Maintenance needs vary greatly among species. Also, does the plant bear fruit that will "mess up" a patio or deck? And lastly, what are the needs of the tree? If it does not do well in wet soils, is the chosen location appropriate? Consult an arborist or horticulturist for advice on proper plant selection.

Prepare the plants new home:

When planting, obey the old saying, "Dlg a 20-dollar hole for a 10-dollar tree." The hole should be two to three times the width of the root ball, with outward sloping sides. To determine the depth of the hole needed, first find the root flare (where the trunk flares out to become roots). Be aware that the root flare may be hidden under excess soil and burlap on balled and burlap plants. The hole should be just deep enough that the root flare, after planting and settling, is level with the surrounding soil. Planting too deep is the most common mistake people make. It is always better to plant slightly high than too deep!

Placement:

Gently place the plant in the hole and confirm the planting depth is correct. Obviously, if plants are in plastic containers, remove the plants and, with a sharp knife, make two or three vertical cuts in the roots to relieve rootbound conditions commonly found in container plants. Assure that the plant is straight and place soil in the bottom of the hole to stabilize the plant. Remove any synthetic twine and if in a wire basket, cut away as much wire as possible. Fill the remainder of the hole with soil, being careful not to mound any soil against the trunk

Maintenance:

Water thoroughly. Stick the end of the hose into the loose backfilled soil and fill the planting hole up to the top with water. Just because the surrounding soil is saturated, it doesn't mean the root ball has enough water - it should also be watered. To do this, simply let the hose run adjacent to the trunk, over the root zone. The first watering is critical! It is not only the first good drink of water the plant receives since being out of the ground for weeks; it also serves to settle the soil in order for the tree to become stable in the hole without any air pockets. After the soil settles, add more if needed. Apply two inches of mulch to the root zone area at a minimum, and ideally out to the drip line (below the tlps of branches).
